NO PROSPECT OF EARLY BAN ON MUNITIONS

Cabinet Decides Britain Cannot Act Independently for Arms Embargo

INTERNATIONAL PACT ONLY EFFECTIVE WAY

LONDON, Feb. 22 (AP).—The Cabinet decided tonight Great Britain cannot act independently for an effective arms embargo on the Far East. Co-operation by other arms exporting countries is essential for any practical scheme, the ministers held.

France, Italy and Great Britain can apply embargo by the simple process of refusing licences for the export of arms, but the official view here is that the procedure in some other arms-producing countries is not so simple.

APPROVES INSTRUCTIONS

The Cabinet also finally approved its instructions for the British delegation, which will attend the League of Nations assembly at Geneva, Friday, when a report censuring Japan's policy toward China will be considered.

Earlier in the day Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald declared in the House of Commons that only through an international agreement could an arms embargo for the Far East be accomplished. He agreed during a discussion with Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, Labor leader, the question should be settled quickly.

BOYCOTT SUGGESTED

Meanwhile a threat of an economic boycott against Japan and an arms embargo against both Japan and China, was voiced by the Council of Trade Unions, and the national executive of the Labor party. The joint group announced that the British Labor movement, in the event Japan rejects recommendations of the League of Nations for settlement of the Manchurian controversy, will urge such steps.

During the discussion with Mr. Lansbury, Prime Minister MacDonald indicated he was willing to agree to a debate in the House of Commons, Monday, on the Far Eastern situation.

In reply to a question from the Labor member as to "What is our own Government doing in this matter?" the Prime Minister replied that the Government already had made up its mind. "It has made up its mind," he declared, "that this must be a subject for international agreement, and the Government will do everything it can to ascertain whether international agreement is possible."

THOUSANDS AT CONSECRATION

Impressive Scene at Cathedral in Chatham When New Bishop Installed

CHATHAM, N.B., Feb. 22 (CP).—The Roman Catholic diocese of Gravelbourgh, in Saskatchewan, has a new bishop. At St. Michael's Cathedral here, where he was ordained to the priesthood twenty-seven years ago, Monsignor L. J. A. Melanson today became a prelate of the church. The ceremony of consecration was performed by Most Rev. Andrea Cassullo, apostolic delegate to Canada and Newfoundland.

It was an impressive chapter in the story of untiring service given by the new bishop to the church in Northern New Brunswick since he was a young missionary.

SCENE OF DIGNITY

The presence of fifteen archbishops and bishops added to the dignity of the scene in St. Michael's, where more than 200 priests were seated. A total of 2,000 people filled the cathedral.

Most Rev. J. McGuigan, Archbishop of Regina, and Rt. Rev. P. A. Chiasson, Bishop of Chatham, assisted in the consecration.

The sermon in French was delivered by Cardinal-elect J. M. R. Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec.

Three Young Children Die In House Fire

KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP).—Three young children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wilson, five miles west of Sharbot Lake, this afternoon.

It is believed the fire started from the kitchen stove.

According to the information received here, the mother was about 300 yards away from the home, gathering wood, when she noticed the house in flames. She ran to the house and gave the alarm, but the building was a mass of flames, and the mother and neighbors who gathered were unable to rescue the children. The father was in Kingston.

Shatters Record For Land Speed At Beach Course

Sir Malcolm Campbell Breaks Own World Mark Driving New Bluebird 272.108 Miles an Hour at Daytona—Experiences His Worst Ride Steering With One Hand

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 22 (AP).—Great Britain's dominance in the realm of speed was skyrocketed to new heights today by Sir Malcolm Campbell in a daring race against time along the ocean speedway here. In two blistering runs over the hard-packed beach, the forty-eight-year-old driver streaked to a new world automobile speed mark of 272.108 miles an hour over a measured mile route to climax a quarter of a century of record-smashing achievements.

He also established a new record of 272.463 miles an hour over one kilometre on the same trials and 257.295 over a five-kilometre course.

ADDS EIGHTEEN MILES

Driving a long, streamlined Bluebird car, equipped with a 2,500-horsepower airplane motor, Sir Malcolm clipped .94 of a second off his own previous record of 253.968 for the mile and increased the mark by 18.140 miles an hour.

On his first run the British driver attained the astounding speed of 273.556 miles an hour as he roared over the beach, paralleled on one side by a pounding surf and on the other by high, irregular sand dunes from which thousands of spectators looked on. His time for the mile on that run was 13.16 seconds. His second trial, made in the opposite direction, was clocked at 13.30 seconds for a speed of 270.676 miles an hour.

WORST RIDE IN LIFE

Returning to the grandstand after his trials to be greeted by cheering spectators, Sir Malcolm characterized his race as "the worst ride I ever had in my life." He was forced to steer the bouncing car over the course with only one hand, as he had injured the other a week ago in making repairs to the machine.

"The beach was so rough," the driver declared, "that on several occasions I thought I was gone. If I had not been able to control the car so magnificently, I should have landed either in the sand dunes or in the ocean.

ARMS DISPUTE IS AMICABLY SETTLED

LONDON, Feb. 22 (AP).—Sir John Simon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, told the House of Commons today that hope he expressed yesterday for an amicable settlement of the Austrian arms dispute seemed to have been realized, as he understood the Austrian Government had agreed to a proposed solution.

Therefore, he said, he thought it inadvisable to revive the controversy by publishing the diplomatic correspondence as a questioner had requested.

Pilot Killed When Glider Wing Buckles

GALT, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP).—Buckled wing of his glider brought death to thirty-year-old Arthur Russell, of Galt, an experienced pilot, late today when the machine crashed to the ice of Puslinch Lake from a height of 150 feet. Wesley Russell, father of Arthur, and his brother, Clarence, were eye-witnesses of the tragedy.

The two rushed to the wreckage as the nose dive ended on the ice, but Arthur was dead when they reached him. It is believed he died instantly from a broken neck.

TO OPEN BRANCH IN OLD COUNTRY

Canadian Manufacturers Contemplating Establishment There of Broom-Handle Factory

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Feb. 22.—For an English firm to build a branch factory in Canada is a common enough event, but for a Canadian firm to open a branch in the Old Country is another story.

For some years past this company has supplied large quantities of broom handles to the Old Country market, and it is considered here that it would be more economical to manufacture the lower grade broom handles in Great Britain. The factory here will still supply the higher grade handles.

The proposal to establish a branch in Great Britain is the result of the Imperial conference, it is said.

Latest-Found Hole In Atlantic Floor Is Nine Miles Deep

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Feb. 22 (AP).—Dr. Paul Bartsch, head of an oceanographic expedition operating off Puerto Rico, reported today that the discovery of a new Atlantic depth of 44,000 feet—nearly nine miles.

The hole in the ocean floor is near Nares Deep, about seventy-miles north of Puerto Rico, he said. Nautical charts show the deepest spot hitherto known in the Atlantic as 27,972 feet, in the same vicinity.

BILL READY FOR PASSAGE

Amendments to Railway Measure Clarify Avenues for Economy

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP).—Amendments to Canada's new transportation law, proposed by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Government leader, after an exhaustive study by the Senate railway committee, were today approved by the Senate in committee of the whole, and the bill stands for third and final reading tomorrow.

The amendments were chiefly designed to clarify the provisions of the bill with regard to those phases of their activities on which the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific will be bound to co-operate in the interests of economy.

ASSURANCE GIVEN

Assurance was given Senator James Murdoch the new legislation would not override the provisions of the Railway Act, or of the Industrial Disputes Act, with respect to social, humane and safety laws.

One of the amendments added today provides the compulsory co-operation features of the bill will not affect "(a) Any manufacturing, land, mining or ocean marine company, undertaking, property, work or service," or "(b) Any transportation, communication or hotel service which is within another legislative competence than that of Canada, or a province of Canada, or which as between the National Railways and the Pacific Railways is not competitive."

OTHER ACTIVITIES

This amendment is intended to meet the case of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which engages in certain mining, ocean shipping and other activities, which do not compete with the Canadian National. They will not be subject to the compulsory provisions of the bill.

Other amendments define the two railways with the same object in view.

A difference of opinion arose as to the section prohibiting the chairman of the board of trustees of the Canadian National Railways from being an officer of another company. Senator A. D. MacRae said it should go further, and prohibit him from being a director of another company. Senator Meighen did not think this necessary, but believed if the chairman were a director of a company whose interests were likely to conflict with those of the railway, he should resign.

PYBUS RESIGNS FROM MINISTRY

National Liberal Surrenders Portfolio of Transport—Oliver Stanley Is Appointed

LONDON, Feb. 22 (CP).—The important task of piloting through the House of Commons the London passenger transport bill having been successfully concluded, Percy John Pybus, National Liberal Minister of Transport since 1931, today resigned his portfolio.

The resignation was accepted by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, who then announced the appointment of Oliver Stanley, Conservative, and second son of the Earl of Derby, to the office.

The retired minister is a prominent business man, interested in several organizations, and gave as the reason of his resignation the necessity of attending to his interests.

Hydrographers Put New Pacific Island on Map

The report was made by Captain L. G. Richardson, of the British motorship Silverbeech.

"On February 11," he reported, "at 12:46 a.m., latitude 31:28 north, longitude 152:13 east, sighted small island about fifteen feet high and a half mile long, with a fixed white light in the middle.

Charts of the area show this location as deep water south and east of the main group of Japanese islands. The nearest charted land is Marcos Island, a Japanese possession, 400 miles distant.

Captain Richardson suggested the new island is of volcanic origin, thrown up by some subterranean disturbance. He attributed the light to some Japanese fisherman or native from a distant island having moved on the new island.

Japanese Army Now In Complete Control Of Transport Route

Several Preliminary Clashes With Chinese and Numerous Casualties Reported

IRREGULARS MAY JOIN THE INVADERS

CHINCHOW, Manchuria, Feb. 22 (AP).—The entire Chinchow-Peiping Railway was in the hands of the Japanese army today, and in the Peipiao terminus they were provided with an excellent railhead jumping-off place for their drive to clear the Chinese forces out of the Province of Jehol.

When General Yoshimichi Suzuki's troops marched into Peipiao yesterday, they found the city deserted. The railroad tunnel from Nanling, a few miles to the east, had been damaged by the Chinese, who also attempted to blow up a bridge to check the Japanese advance.

From Peipiao the Japanese will move across the province to the city of Jehol.

SEVERAL CLASHES

Several clashes between Japanese and Chinese have taken place in other sectors. The town of Tungliao, Manchuria, about 200 miles north of Chinchow, and close to the border of Jehol, was threatened by 2,000 mounted Chinese and Mongolians. At Kailu, the gateway to Jehol, on the northeast, there was additional fighting, and last night a force of Chinese irregulars at-

ARREST MADE; GOODS SEIZED

Esquimalt Police Hold John W. Sealey on Ten Counts of Theft

John William Westlake Sealey, of 916 Nicholson Street, Esquimalt, was arrested by Chief of Police H. W. V. Pecknold and Constable Harold Sweeney last night on a charge of theft on ten counts. Police, in making the arrest, seized silk lingerie and dresses amounting to 250 pieces in all.

The accused will appear before Magistrate George Jay this morning at a special session of the Esquimalt court. A remand is expected to be asked by the prosecution so that police may complete all details of the case.

SERIES OF THEFTS

A series of household and clothesline robberies has taken place in Esquimalt, going back as far as early in December, Chief Pecknold stated.

Several suspects were kept under close observation, but the task of catching the culprit was made difficult by the fact that none of the goods reported stolen were disposed of through the usual channels.

After studying the peculiarities attending each robbery and finding them to coincide, police set a trap and then held a watching brief.

TRAP IS LAID

The trap last night was laid at 946 Selkirk Avenue. Constable Sweeney was stationed inside the home early in the day, and was there when members of the household left for the evening. Chief Pecknold patrolled outside.

The chief saw someone take clothes from the line in the backyard and later heard a window pried open. He withheld action and shortly after Constable Sweeney gave the signal to the chief, who, on entering the house, found that Sealey had been taken into custody by Constable Sweeney.

Constable Sweeney also had watched the clothes taken from the line from a rear window and when one of the kitchen windows was raised, waited until the intruder stepped into the room, and then pounced upon him.

Shaping New Britain Is Pronouncement of Financial Secretary

Treasury Figures Show Millions Fallen From Debit Balance of Country's Books—Increasing Trade Constitutes Miraculous Rehabilitation

LONDON, Feb. 22 (CP).—"One of the most miraculous rehabilitations ever recorded in history," declared Leslie Hore-Belisha, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, speaking here today in reference to figures of the United Kingdom's increased trade of last year.

The figures, published today, show the debit balance fell last year from £104,000,000 in 1931 to £59,000,000 in 1932. The adverse trade balance was reduced from £408,000,000 to £289,000,000.

"We are not only recovering," he concluded, "but we are shaping Britain anew."

INCREASED EMPIRE TRADE

He recited figures revealing that the United Kingdom had imported more from the Dominions during 1932 than ever before, and its exports to Empire countries also increased in the same period.

"If we had the same invisible receipts as we had in 1931, we should actually be £15,000,000 on the right side," Mr. Hore-Belisha said. "We imported less food and more raw material, and exported more manufactured goods in 1932 than in 1931."

Referring to the wheat subsidy, Mr. Hore-Belisha said the result had been that in 1932 England had laid down 1,344,000 acres of wheat compared with 1,250,000 in 1931. There were indications, too, that there would be a further increase of 17 per cent in the current year.

NO DEARER BREAD

"That has been done without increasing the price of bread by a halfpenny," pointed out the speaker.

"We imported from the Dominions more in 1932 than in any previous period of history. Our Empire imports in 1932 were 35.42 per cent of our total imports, while in 1931 the same figure was 28.75 per cent. And our exports to the Dominions also have risen," concluded the financial secretary.

REQUEST AID IN EXPORT SCHEME

Livestock Men Ask for Support to Ship 20,000 Head of Cattle

Vigorous representations are being made to Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, and to the Cabinet at large, to lend immediate financial support to a scheme whereby some 20,000 head of finished cattle will be exported to Great Britain within the next two months.

Representatives of Alberta ranchers are at Ottawa pushing the project. They are said to have 7,000 head of cattle now ready for export. The livestock men of Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec are actively represented in furthering the scheme.

TWO-FOLD REQUEST

The proposal is two fold:

First, the Government is being asked to bring about a substantial reduction in rail rates on cattle, from interior points to tidewater. This would be done by subvention, similar to the subventions granted to coal producers.

Second, the Government is being urged to arrange for additional cattle ships to carry the surplus livestock to Britain in the next two months. This could be done by either leasing or buying tramp ships suitable for the trade, or by making vessel owners a cash grant of sufficient size to pay the cost of equipping the ships with stalls.

ASK EXTENSION OF BOXER MORATORIUM

NANKING, Feb. 22 (AP).—The National Government has sent to the nine powers concerned a request for an additional one-year moratorium on the Boxer indemnity payments, the Foreign Office announced.

Parties to the treaty are Great Britain, United States, France, Belgium, Italy, Holland, Portugal, China and Japan.

"Pulse, 106; respiration, 28; temperature, 99.8.

ROOSEVELT TO SEEK PACT OF RECIPROCITY

New York Times Says Personal Representative Discussed Subject at Ottawa

PARTY LEADER SEES IMMEDIATE ACTION

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (CP). — A special Washington dispatch printed in The New York Times today says Henry Morgenthau II, close counsel of President-elect Franklin Roosevelt, made a recent visit to Ottawa and it links the visit with present talk in Ottawa or trade reciprocity between the Dominion and the United States.

The dispatch declares the American President-elect sent Mr. Morgenthau, son of the former American Ambassador to Turkey, to Ottawa for the express purpose of ascertaining prospects for working out a reciprocal tariff understanding. It does not state, however, which Ottawa officials, if any, were interviewed by the emissary.

INDORSE PRINCIPLE

The Times story quotes several prominent Democratic leaders as indorsing the general principle of tariff reciprocity, suggested in the Ottawa House of Commons this week by William Duff, Liberal M.P. for Antigonish-Guysboro, and approved Wednesday by other Liberal members of the Commons as well as the Senate.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett has declared for such action between the two countries, but contended overtures looking to the working out of a reciprocal agreement should first be made by Mr. Roosevelt.

PROMISED TRADE ACTION

In his successful election campaign last November the incoming President of the United States made it clear tariff bargaining looking to the opening up of trade channels was a policy of the Democratic party.

According to The Times dispatch, Representative Henr. T. Rainey, a strong candidate for Speaker of the next House of Representatives at Washington, said, Wednesday, he thought the President-elect would be ready to take steps toward formulation of a treaty of reciprocity with Canada "immediately," and Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, also gave the proposals a friendly reception.

BANKER LOOKED AFTER HIS OWN

Customers Sold Out While Millions Were Set Aside for Officers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP).—An amazed United States Senate investigating committee learned today that, while the National City Bank was selling out its customers in the frenzied days following the market crash of 1929, it set aside $2,400,000 for interest-free loans to protect its own hard-pressed officers.

While this was being established by the banking committee, Senator Wheeler, Montana Democrat, on the floor of the Senate scathingly arraigned Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City's Board of Directors, as a result of the latter's testimony that to avoid paying an income tax in 1929, he took a loss of nearly $2,800,000 by selling bank stock to a member of his family, to be rebought later.

CROOKED PRESIDENTS

"The best way to restore confidence in the banks," Wheeler said, "would be to take these crooked presidents out of the banks and treat them the same as we treated Al Capone when he failed to pay his income tax."

Gordon S. Rentschler, president of the bank, told the committee of the loan fund for the institution's officers. The money was advanced, he said, without interest and some times without security as a means of sustaining the morale of the organization.

Under examination, he disclosed that only about 5 per cent of the loans have been repaid.

Franchise Bill Again Defeated

QUEBEC, Feb. 22 (CP).—A bill, to give women of this province the right to vote in Quebec elections, met defeat in the Quebec Legislative Assembly today.

Defeat came by way of a six-months' hoist, moved by Dr. Ernest Poulin (Lib. Montreal-Laurier), as an amendment to a motion by Dr. Anatole Plante (Lib. Montreal-Mercier), that the bill be given second reading. The six months' hoist was upheld by a vote, 53-30.

Party lines were forgotten, and even the Cabinet of Premier L. A. Taschereau was divided when vote was called on this perennial bill.

NEW CABINET LIST READY

Roosevelt Said to Have Decided on Ministers in Administration

(Copyright, 1933, by the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP).—Heralding the imminence of a new administration, it was authentically revealed today that President-elect Roosevelt had just completed a Cabinet of national pattern, and turned to other major appointments.

Homer Cummings, of Connecticut, is understood to be slated for Governor-General of the Philippines, putting at rest reports that Mr. Roosevelt intended to leave in that high post, for the time being at least, his distant relative, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

REMAINS AT GENEVA

Norman H. Davis, by invitation of the President-elect in New York today, will remain as head of the American delegation to the Geneva arms conference, assured continuity of this country's policy there.

Although only the first two of the ten have been formally announced, the Cabinet set-up is accepted in Washington to be:

State—Cordell Hull, of Tennessee.
Treasury—William H. Woodin, of Pennsylvania and New York.
War—George H. Dern, of Utah.
Justice — Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana.
Postoffice — James A. Farley, of New York.
Navy—Claude A. Swanson, of Virginia.
Interior—Harold Ickes, of Illinois.
Agriculture—Henry A. Wallace, of Iowa.
Commerce—Daniel C. Roper, of South Carolina.
Labor—Miss Frances Perkins, of New York.

POLITICAL DIVISION

One of the angles to attract immediate attention on Capitol was the political division of that list, Woodin and Ickes, in past years having been identified in Republican causes, and Wallace, being a son of the Secretary of Agriculture, in the Harding administration.

VOTE AGAINST PEACE RAILWAY

Minister Declares Country Cannot Afford Its Construction This Year

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP).—The House of Commons today turned thumbs down on a proposal to build a railway from the Peace River district, in Northern Alberta, to the Pacific Coast. The cost had been estimated between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

After Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, said the financial position of the country would not warrant construction this year, the House defeated, 133 to 39, a resolution proposing the railway. It was introduced by Donald Kennedy, United Farmer member for Peace River, and received practically all its support from Alberta and British Columbia members.

The division cut across party lines with ten Conservatives, sixteen Liberals and thirteen United Farmers and Progressives voting for the railway. The bulk of the Conservatives and Liberals were opposed.

The Peace River Railway, succeeding Westerners said, had been promised for years. It would open a vast wheat-growing Empire, and its construction at the present time might be used to relieve unemployment in British Columbia and Alberta.

DISTINGUISHED CLERIC CALLED TO HIS REST

QUEBEC, Feb. 22 (CP).—Protonotary apostolic, honorary Vicar-General of Quebec and one of the most distinguished clerics of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Quebec, Mgr. Omer Cloutier, died in Hotel Dieu Hospital today.

Stricken with paralysis last May, Mgr. Cloutier was taken to hospital and his condition suddenly took a turn for the worse ten days ago. His death had been expected momentarily for the past week, and came peacefully in the late afternoon today. He was sixty-six years old.

TO PRESS FOR COURT RULING

Mayor Taylor Contends Released Judgment Cannot Be Reregistered

VANCOUVER, Feb. 22.—Proceedings will be launched in Supreme Court by Alex Henderson, K.C., counsel for Mayor L. D. Taylor, for a ruling that His Worship is not disqualified to hold office.

While the exact nature of the legal relief, to be sought from the court, was not disclosed by Mr. Henderson, it is probable that a mandamus will be applied for against Arthur G. Smith, registrar of land titles, Vancouver, to compel him to issue a certificate that Lot 191, Hastings Townsite, on which Mayor Taylor qualified, is free of encumbrances.

JUDGMENT REREGISTERED

The court will be asked to decide that the release given by Hans Hansen, of Port Neville, on November 30, 1914, of his $1,078 judgment against Lot 191, is a bar to the registration of the judgment. The judgment was reregistered on Monday, by Ian Shaw, solicitor for Hanson, and A. M. Manson's firm, solicitors for ex-Chief C. E. Edgett, promptly notified the city clerk that the Mayor no longer possessed the charter qualification of $1,000.

Mr. Henderson contends that this language constitutes a release.

JUDICIAL AUTHORITY

If it should be held to be a release, there is judicial authority for the contention that once a property has been released from a judgment, the judgment cannot be again registered against it.

The late Chief Justice Gordon Hunter so decided when the property qualification of Mr. Taylor was attacked in December, 1914.

David McKenzie was Mr. Taylor's solicitor at that time, and Mr. McKenzie has again been retained by His Worship to collaborate with Mr. Henderson in proceedings to vacate the registration of the Hansen judgment.

"There were times when I could see no distance whatever ahead. I just had to guess and trust to luck. Frankly, it was the roughest ride I ever had and I'll multiply that fifty times."

KILOMETRE MARKS

Sir Malcolm covered the kilometre, which is approximately five-eighths of a mile, in 8.18 seconds, for a speed of 273.463 miles an hour on his first run. On his second run over that distance he was clocked at 8.24 seconds for a speed of 271.472 miles an hour. The kilometre was marked off inside the measured official mile.

In setting up a new record for five kilometres, the figures on which were not announced by officials until tonight, Sir Malcolm attained a two-way average speed of 257.295. His previous record for that distance, established here last year, was 247.841.

Following his epochal race, Sir Malcolm indicated he would not make another attempt to boost his newly-established record. He said he could not race again so long as his sprained arm was paining him, and he expressed a desire to go to New York as soon as possible to sail for England.

MORE SPEED POSSIBLE

Sir Malcolm said he was satisfied with the performance of his car under such adverse conditions, but he was confident that, given a better beach and good visibility, he could place the record much higher.

He would not commit himself as to the maximum speed the car can attain, but he indicated its peak is faster than 300 miles an hour. Concerning his speed today, Sir Malcolm said that on his first run, his engine speed indicator recorded between 3,600 and 3,700 revolutions per minute, which he estimated should have given him a land speed of approximately 330 miles an hour.

Because his car bumped so much over the rough beach, the wheels were spinning in the air much of the time, so that his actual forward speed was reduced considerably under what his instruments showed. The same was true on his second run, when he estimated his engine speed at 310 miles an hour.

TIRES BADLY CUT

Following the trials, Sir Malcolm's terrific punishment they received. They were cut badly by sea shells, particularly those on the rear driving wheels.

Completing his first run at the south end of the course, Sir Malcolm changed tires rather than risk racing on the same ones again. There was scarcely a spot on the outer side of the tires that was not littered with cuts. Some of them were a quarter of an inch deep and extended through the rubber into the twelve-ply cotton cords. In some places the rubber had been entirely stripped away.

SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP).—Canada's congratulations to Sir Malcolm Campbell, who today broke his own automobile speed record on the sands of Daytona Beach, Florida, were extended by Premier R. B. Bennett.

Promptly on receipt of the news, Mr. Bennett sent the following telegram to Sir Campbell:

"May I, on behalf of the Government of Canada, offer hearty congratulations on your magnificent achievement. All Canadians are proud of your record, initiative and courage."

GENERAL IS REMOVED

tacked a Japanese column near Koupangtzu, Manchuria, with numerous casualties on both sides.

Chinese irregulars in the Tungliao area were bombed by Japanese airmen, who had orders to clear the way for the troops which will move into Jehol from the north.

Japanese sources said there was much bitter dissension among Chinese war lords seeking the leadership of the Jehol forces.

JEHOL CITIES BOMBED

PEIPING, China, Feb. 23 (AP). — A Chinese communique today said Nanling, Peipiao and Chaoyang, all in Jehol Province, were bombed by Japanese airplanes. All three places, the announcement said, were still held by Chinese forces.

(Japanese reports were that the towns were occupied by Japanese troops, Wednesday).

Postal and telegraph offices in Nanling and Peipiao were destroyed, the communique continued, apparently in an effort to cut communications.

An attempt to bomb the post-office in Chaoyang was frustrated by Chinese anti-aircraft fire, the bulletin asserted.

WILL INFORM POWERS

TOKIO, Feb. 22 (AP).—A Government spokesman said today there was "real danger" Japan would be compelled to take steps to protect Japanese nationals in Peiping and Tientsin endangered by the impending military campaign to conquer the Province of Jehol to the north.

The Government intends soon to inform the ambassadors of the principal powers interested in China of the policy it will pursue concerning the Peiping-Tientsin area. These ambassadors will be told, the spokesman said, the army has no plan to carry the Jehol operations south of the great wall of China.

"However, there is real danger," he asserted, "that a backwash from the Jehol campaign will result in a Chinese attack on our garrison at Tientsin or in a massacre of Japanese at Peiping, in which event the army would be compelled to move to protect them. Barring such unfortunate developments, the fighting will be confined to Jehol."

TIENTSIN APPREHENSIVE

TIENTSIN, China, Feb. 22 (AP). —Apprehension as to what the future may bring was evident here, tonight, as the result of the military campaign in the Northern Chinese province, Jehol.

Despite Japanese denials of any intention to invade the area of Peiping and Tientsin, reservations which accompanied those denials increased apprehension rather than allaying them.

Although it was thought 30,000 Chinese troops could be massed to defend Tientsin and Tangku, it was pointed out the troops at this time are garrisoned at scattered points to avoid provocation for combat.

OFFERS HIS SERVICES

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, Feb. 22 (AP).—An assertion that General Lieu Kuei-Tang, commander of 15,000 Chinese troops in the Lupeh region of Northern Jehol Province, had offered to ally himself with the Government of Manchukuo was made by Japanese officials here today.

General Kuei-Tang's decision, it was reported, was due to the activities of Manchukuoan and Japanese agents who have been at work among Chinese irregular forces. Other leaders of Guerilla forces, the officers continued, also were expected to join Japanese and Manchukuoan troops in the Jehol campaign.

IRREGULARS COME IN

MUKDEN, Feb. 23 (AP).—Groups of irregular Chinese fighters announced today they were ready to accept Japanese offers of food, clothing and employment, and would submit to the Government of Manchukuo.

Meanwhile, the death of a Japanese soldier, the first in the current assault on Jehol, was reported here. Corporal Mizugami, a member of the Nishi command, was killed Wednesday near Peipiao in a conflict between Japanese soldiers and Chinese irregulars.

FORMER BANDIT COMMANDS

General Chang Hai-Peng, who a few years ago was a bandit leader and a symbol of fear in all Manchuria, today was named commander of the Manchukuo troops participating in the big drive in Jehol.

General Chang arrived in Tungliao, Manchuria, which is 200 miles north of Chainchow and close to the Jehol border, and began to advance in the direction of Kailu in which northeast Jehol town 47,000 Chinese are reported encamped.

BANKS PREPARE TO OPEN AGAIN

Amount of Withdrawals From Michigan Institutions Will Continue to Be Limited

DETROIT, Feb. 22 (AP). — The question of how much money will be available to depositors in Michigan banks remained largely unsettled tonight as the 530 institutions prepared for reopening.

Under the terms of Governor William A. Comstock's proclamation, all banks, closed for the past eight days under an unprecedented emergency order, must reopen Thursday for limited business.

The Detroit Clearing House Association, however, has announced that the 5 per cent withdrawal permitted depositors since last Thursday will be continued—virtually extending the holiday as it was proclaimed last Tuesday by the Governor.

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR SAFETY OF CHILDREN

While the Provincial Department of Public Works will provide transportation costs for children attending Craigflower School, during the time that the bridge is under repair, it will not accept any responsibility for the children's safety, the Saanich school board learned by letter from the department last night. It was felt that insurance of buses should take care of this responsibility, and the matter was referred to the transportation company.

DEMAND ACTION ON SILVER PLAN

Coinage Committee Presses for Consideration of Proposals in U.S. House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP).—The coinage committee voted today to demand House action, before March 4, on legislation that would tap the world's silver supply coinage bill it rejected yesterday, eight to three, and instructed Chairman Somers to make every effort to place the measure before the House between now and the end of the present session.

Somers was optimistic about the possibilities, and said he was "even more confident of the prospective success of the bill in the Senate than in the House."

PROVISIONS OF BILL

The bill the New York Democrat and his committee back would, in five years, add $250,000,000 or slightly more to the $800,000,000 in silver certificates already circulated. That would be accomplished in this way:

The Treasury would be authorized to buy in five years not more than $250,000,000 worth of silver bullion. Part of this bullion would be coined into silver dollars, and silver certificates issued against those dollars. The bulk of the bullion would be held as a reserve in the Treasury.

LIMIT TO PURCHASES

The silver purchases would be limited to 40,000,000 ounces a month and at prices gradually increasing from forty to seventy-five cents. At present, silver brings a little more than twenty-five cents an ounce on the market.

The new silver certificates, and those already outstanding, would be made legal tender and all eventually would be redeemable is gold, as are the present dollar bills.

The act in question will be one to amend the Town Planning Act.

Premier Tolmie and T. D. Pattullo, Leader of the Opposition, will speak to a motion of condolence in connection with the death of the late Michael Manson, former Conservative member for Mackenzie.

Filing of half a hundred reports for the last completed year of operation and appointment of a committee to select standing committees of the House for the session will be other business achieved.

When the Speech from the Throne is taken up in debate later, H. D. Twigg, Deputy Speaker at the last session and one of the four Conservative members for Victoria, will move the Address in Reply. Captain James Fitzsimmons (Conservative, Kaslo-Slocan) will second the motion. Ensuing debate usually occupies days to follow.

Monk, V.D., and a score of high-ranking officers of the permanent and nonpermanent forces will attend His Honor in the Legislative Chamber.

Fairbairn, His Honor's secretary, will accompany the Governor.

FIFTEEN-GUN SALUTE

A fifteen-gun salute will be fired on the arrival of the Lieutenant-Governor, by the 58th Field Battery, which will be inspected prior to that by Colonel T. B. Monk, V.D., attended by Captain S. R. Bowden, adjutant.

Inspector Robert Owens will be in charge of Provincial Police details, and Chief Thomas Heatley, the city police, a number of whom will be on hand to marshal the crowd that always attends to witness pageantry in connection with the affair.

Hundreds of invitations have been issued to the wives and friends of members and others to witness the formal opening. Those in the galleries will see the Gentlemen to the Right and the Gentlemen to the Left of Mr. Speaker in more companionable association than will occur again until the final sitting ends.

For the next working sitting, members' desks will be squared away, and the issues of the day will be threshed out without restraint, other than the warning voice of Mr. Speaker.

VETERANS PETITIONING TO PENSION CAPTAIN

WINNIPEG, Feb. 22 (CP).—Representatives of five war veterans' organizations met with Mayor Ralph Webb today and voted to telegraph a petition to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in an endeavor to secure a military pension for Charles G. Brown, formerly a captain in the Lord Strathcona Horse.

A resolution also was passed to notify all branches of the associations in an attempt to gain Dominion-wide support of the petition, which reviewed to Premier Bennett circumstances surrounding dismissal of Brown when convicted of scandalous conduct by court-martial.

TAKE FIGHT TO HEADQUARTERS

Doukhobor Counsel Confer With Immigration Minister On Veregin Case

HALIFAX, Feb. 22 (AP).—An appeal to the Dominion Government against Peter Veregin's intended deportation to Russia sent Peter Makaroff, the Doukhobor leader's personal counsel, and J. P. Shukin, vice-president of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, to Ottawa this week for an audience with Government authorities.

Veregin's aides in his court fight to forestall deportation to his native land left here on Tuesday, and were to have conferred today with Premier R. B. Bennett and Hon. Wesley Gordon, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, it was stated tonight by S. F. Reiben, personal secretary to the Doukhomor leader.

Mr. Reiben declared that they would lay before the Dominion officials a proposal to have Veregin sent, instead of to Russia, to Mexico, Costa Rica, Argentine, or any of the South American republics.

MAY ALL GO

Veregin, who was taken to Halifax almost three weeks ago, possesses passports to these three countries, and it is likely that he will, if allowed, move his entire colony of 16,000 Doukhobors with him.

After having lead their appeal before the Federal Government, Makaroff and Shukin were expected to arrive back in Halifax on Friday, in time for the cult chieftain's fourth appearance in court since Saturday morning. Mr. Justice Humphrey Mellish is then expected to hand down decision in the court action instituted by counsel, in an effort to prove the invalidity of the Department of Immigration's order for Veregin's deportation to Russia.

INTERVIEW MINISTER

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP).—On behalf of Peter Veregin, leader of the pending deportation at Halifax, Peter Makaroff, Saskatoon lawyer, and J. P. Shukin, vice-president of the Doukhobors, conferred with Hon. W. A. Gordon, acting Minister of Immigration, and have an appointment to meet the Minister again tomorrow.

Makaroff tonight declined to discuss the nature of his business with the department, but said he expected to return to Halifax tomorrow afternoon. The visit to Ottawa, it is understood, however, has no connection with an appeal against the deportation order already disposed of by Mr. Gordon.

WILL NOT RECOGNIZE STRIKE OF TEACHERS

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 22 (AP). —The Government, on learning that agitators were working among teachers in an attempt to have them join a strike in March, announced today that strikes by any public employees will not be recognized, and that any teachers who join such a demonstration will be dismissed and jailed.

TAKES LONG TRIP TO TRY AIRPLANE

Jimmy Mattern Hops From New York to Texas as Preliminary Test of Machine

Mattern made the hop alone, arriving here 13 hours and 36 minutes after he roared away from a Brooklyn airport in the craft he hopes will take him and Bennett Griffin around the world this Summer.

The plane contains some parts of the old Century of Progress, which smashed up in Russia while carrying Mattern and Griffin on a projected around-the-world flight last Summer.

Uniformity of Money Within Empire Would Help Trade, Is Claim

Richard Bell-Irving Delivers Optimistic Address on Inter-Dominion Relations Before Local Manufacturers—Standard Currency Needed

MAKING a plea for the development of the fullest share of inter-Imperial trade, for the early linking up of Canada in the matter of its currency with the pound sterling, and the maintenance by this Dominion of the highest quality of products which it puts on the market, Richard Bell-Irving, of Vancouver, made a stirring appeal to the members of the Victoria and Island branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association yesterday.

He expressed the opinion that it might in some ways be doubted if Canada was living up to the letter and the spirit of the Ottawa Conference as was Great Britain. To link up with the pound was necessary if the real benefits of the conference were to be obtained. He realized the difficulties which Canada had to face in this matter living alongside of the United States. The linking up with the pound would mean that the exports would increase and that, therefore, an increased number would be put to work. Today, he said, it was shown there were 15,527 industries that did not pay income taxes and had losses for the year of $98,000,000.

The plan suggested would increase the number that would be paying income taxes. Today the industries that were operating were having to pay the cost of the unemployment.

REAP PROFITS

Linking with the pound would mean that capital would be attracted from the United States and Great Britain owing to the advantages to be derived. The tourist trade would be stimulated and general confidence would be restored.

In his opinion, this course would do away with the dump duties which were depriving Canada of the full advantages of the Ottawa Conference.

Using the canned salmon industry, with which he was himself identified, Mr. Bell-Irving said that for a long time the industry had been trying to get a preference in the British market. This had now been obtained, but a 10 per cent preference was of no use to this industry with Russian and Japanese competition as long as the currencies of these countries were away below ours in value. The industry was obliged to put its own house in order and the Government put in compulsory inspection of the quality of the salmon. They were able, therefore, to assure London in January of last year that the quality would be uniform under this compulsory inspection.

MUST MAINTAIN QUALITY

Complaints had also come from France as to quality and this was now overcome by the governmental action. These results were obtained by the co-operation of the industry and the Government. Further difficulties were being ironed out with the consent of the industry and today the Old Country was definitely interested in taking all the British Columbia canned salmon it could get, but the quality must be kept up.

This would apply to other lines of industry and he urged the local association to do all in its power to play the game with the other parts of the Empire.

The situation with regard to the inter-Imperial trade, said the speaker, was in line with a course advocated by his own father thirty years before, when he advocated preferential trade within the Empire and the making of that Empire self sustaining.

QUICK ACTION

Mr. Bell-Irving recalled the progress made with remarkable rapidity by the people of the Old Land, which resulted in the May Commission, the scrapping of politics and the erection of a National Government without loss of time. He compared this quick action with the spectacle afforded in the drawn-out election campaign in the United States, which had held up world affairs for a year.

The speaker recalled what he saw in the Old Land at the time of the quick election there and the ready adaptation of the country to the new conditions made necessary with the "Buy British Campaign." The Old Country was living up to that slogan. Residents there were also patriotic enough to remain at home rather than travel abroad. The Old Land also backed up the idea of prompt payments, which brought the income tax in in time.

OTTAWA CONFERENCE

Then last February came the change in the fiscal policy of Great Britain, which was in favor of a preference for Empire goods. The Ottawa Conference had been of the greatest importance to the world, as well as to the Empire. He did not believe that the importance of what was done at Ottawa had yet been fully realized.

The Home Land had been ahead of all other parts of the Empire in living up, not only to the letter, but to the spirit of the agreements entered into. He cited the abrogation of the Russian Treaty on short order as an instance of this.

Mr. Bell-Irving was thanked on motion of J. L. Beckwith and H. J. Pendray for his address, which he delivered at the annual meeting of the local branch of the C.M.A. yesterday.

J. K. Hodges has since June 12, 1931, been manager of the Empress Hotel, the centre of the numerous social activities connected with the fifth annual C.P.R. Winter golf tournament, which this year has attained its record number of entries. Mr. Hodges came here from the Palliser Hotel, Calgary, on April 1, 1929, as assistant manager of the Empress, a few weeks after the first of these C.P.R. tournaments was held, and has watched their steady growth in popularity to the present occasion, when entries have come from Vancouver, Seattle, Portland, and other Coast cities, as well as from Saskatchewan, Alberta, Manitoba, New York, and even from the British Isles. In speaking of the success of this year's event, Mr. Hodges yesterday expressed appreciation of the enormous help given by the ladies' and men's committees of the local clubs, which had formed themselves into a group to welcome the visiting golfers, while the clubs themselves had also shown a fine spirit in standing behind the movement.

PUBLIC TENDER PLAN ADVANCED

Favor Compulsory Calling and Opening of Work Bids in Daylight

Convinced that the policy of calling for tenders for all public works and of opening these publicly, is a right one and should be followed without exception, Hon. R. W. Bruhn is asking the Provincial Government to introduce legislation at this session by way of amendment to the Highway Act which would make this course obligatory on any Government that was in office.

Since he has been at the head of the Provincial Department of Public Works, Mr. Bruhn has rigidly followed the practice of opening all tenders in public, comparing the competitive bids received against the estimate of the department's own officials for the specific works in hand.

The tenders in all cases have been awarded to the lowest bidder able to carry out the contract.

So far the system has been followed by preference, and not as a matter of legal necessity. Mr. Bruhn believes that the plan should be incorporated in the law, and made obligatory. It would apply to contracts for all forms of highway work, buildings, and other structural works under provincial control.

It is understood unofficially that the proposal has found favor, and will be impilmented by legislation at this session.

TO TELL OF CONDITIONS AS EXISTING IN RUSSIA

G. R. Holland, a Canadian mechanic, who spent more than a year in Russia as an instructor for the State Grain Trust, and who had an opportunity of visiting different parts of the Soviet country, has consented to give a lecture at the City Temple, on March 1.

Mr. Holland, though not a trained speaker, has a very interesting story to tell of conditions in Russia, and will give his views on conditions as he found them there. He had the opportunity of meeting peasants in various parts of the country, as well as workers in the cities. On leaving Russia at the expiration of his contract he was given a flattering letter of recommendation by the manager of the grain trust.

Students Hear of Oxford Movement

Principles and aims of the Oxford Group Movement were explained by Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, to the Student Christian Movement of Victoria College at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Dean Quainton spoke of the founding of the movement by Frank Buchman, and of the objectives set out with its formation. He also referred to the effect which the new movement had on him during a visit to the Old Country last year.

Thomas Jackson presided. The dean answered many questions from the students, who indicated a keen interest in the movement.

CITIZENS FILL PLEDGE CARDS

Readiness Shown to Co-operate in Emergency Employment Drive

So anxious are citizens to enter into the spirit of the campaign now being held here under the name of the Emergency Employment Plan, that a number are coming to the headquarters of the movement, corner of Broad and View Streets, and filling in the pledge cards. These residents have already done this, thus obviating the necessity of doing so after being called upon by the volunteer canvassers.

The office is still in need of further canvassers, and volunteers ready to assist in this work should not delay in submitting their names to the management at the campaign headquarters. At least 100 more volunteers can be accepted. The increased quota is necessary if the number of householders to be visited by the canvassers is to be kept down to twenty.

MAILING INFORMATION

Today householders will be furnished with printed details of the plan in hand. These are being sent through the mail, and will reach each resident within the next day or two. The recipients are asked to carefully peruse these, and thus gain information along the line they are expected to co-operate with the workers who have the campaign in hand.

There is general acquiescence with the campaign throughout the city and district. There are innumerable ways in which money can be spent in affording the assistance required. Householders are not limited to any set plan, but may use their ingenuity in devising the ways that will, in their opinion, best serve their own purposes, and assist in the circulating of the idle money at a time when this is absolutely necessary.

272 MILES PER HOUR

Daytona Beach has been the scene of another record-breaking performance, and again by Sir Malcolm Campbell, who has beaten his world mark of 253 miles an hour for motoring speed on land by nearly nineteen miles. Conditions were not as favorable as they might have been, so the assumption is that had they been better an even higher mark might have been reached. It is the same old Blue Bird in which he made a world record last year, but now it is fitted with a Rolls Royce engine giving 2,500 h.p. in place of the engine of 1,400 h.p. of last year.

Every time Sir Malcolm Campbell attempts to increase the land speed record he risks his life. That is a small matter with him. The clearance between the metal of the Blue Bird and the sand of Daytona Beach is only 3½ inches. That gives an idea of the small margin of safety that exists and the necessity that the sand should be of an unruffled smoothness. For steadiness of hand and quick-thinking brain Sir Malcolm must be almost without a peer among racing motorists. No one has challenged his mark set last year. He has now improved upon it himself. He is the challenger of his own performances. He is a gallant and intrepid adventurer who has earned the admiration of the world.

RECIPROCAL TRADE PROPOSALS

Mr. Mackenzie King wants Canada to negotiate a reciprocity treaty with the United States. He is opposed to the Imperial Trade Treaty which was negotiated between this country and Britain at the Ottawa Conference of last year. Is there any reason to believe that he would be in favor of any treaty which the present Federal Government might negotiate with Washington? He distrusts and misinterprets every action of that Government. He is consistent, however, in his perpetual clamors for closer trade relations with the United States. That was the dominant trend of his economic policies while in power. Not only that, but he was willing to view every new barrier which the United States erected against Canadian trade with equanimity. His constant plea, either outspoken or implied, was that this country must not offend its great neighbor. It was said of the late Lord Haldane that his spiritual home was in Germany. It may yet be said of Mr. Mackenzie King that his economic home is in the United States.

At the present time Canada has an adverse balance of trade with the United States of upwards of $100,000,000 annually. That is one of the factors that operates in favor of a depreciation of the Canadian dollar in terms of American currency. No one supposes that a reciprocity treaty, such as Mr. King proposes, could do anything to offset this depreciation. Any trade treaty of the character suggested would undoubtedly benefit the United States more than Canada; in other words, it would increase the adverse balance of trade by leading to a great flood of American imports. It would, moreover, affect the purchase of home products and consequently mean less money in circulation in Canada. That would not be a way to pave the avenue leading towards a new prosperity. Mr. King lets sentiment in favor of the United States override his powers of economic reasoning. It would seem indeed he seeks an economic factor which would have the effect of neutralizing the results of the Imperial Trade Treaty between Canada and Great Britain.

Mr. R. B. Bennett's policy is to develop trade so far as possible within the Empire while endeavoring to develop world trade for the Dominion as well. It is natural that where trade pacts are concerned that a certain hesitation should ensue in negotiating any agreement with the United States in view of the trade policy pursued by that country during the last ten years in reference to Canadian products. Moreover, the fact that the Canadian dollar is depreciated on American exchanges is another reason why there must be hesitation in effecting a trade rapprochement which could not improve the currency position and which might conceivably make it worse. The fact is that overtures for such a reciprocity treaty as Mr. King proposes should come from Washington and not from the leader of the Liberal Party. In the meantime Canada can confine her major efforts to developing inter-Imperial trade.

THE HERO OF KHARTOUM

This is the centenary year of the birth of General Charles Gordon, known to history as Gordon of Khartoum. His name rests upon a great base of personal valor and self sacrifice. He was a man who reposed incalculable dependence on the dictates of the inner voice. The story of his mission to Khartoum is a part of Empire history. All who have read that history aright must judge him in his own words—"I have done my best for the honor of my country." History, too, forever will assign his death to the weakness or procrastination of the British Government of the day which failed to send a relief expedition to his rescue in time. The episode of Gordon's sacrifice ranks in the mind of British peoples with the heroic defence of Rorke's Drift and the Charge of the Light Brigade. In commenting on the centenary of his birth (January 28 last), The London Times says:

"The distance, the isolation, the intrepidity, the suspense of the affair, and finally the narrow margin of the doom—all these fixed upon Khartoum the helpless and outraged concentration of England, while disaster overwhelmed everything except Gordon's interpretation of patriotism as a creed of obligation, honor and sacrifice. From that day to this, time has stood still for Gordon, the 'hero of heroes' and the most familiar of them all. In an earlier century he would have passed into ballad and shaped more than his country's laws. The art of the ballad is lost, but his tradition is of that kind and has done as much. He is no stranger at his centenary, this man, who, with all his queer tricks of personality, lived his religion and died rather than desert the conception of national duty which belonged to it."

Another tribute paid in the same newspaper by Major-General Sir Louis Jackson says: "Let us remember Charles Gordon as one greatly gifted, who without any thought of earthly reward, strove mightily all his life to help the poor and afflicted, and who, through good report and evil, through great labor and suffering, never turned aside one hair's breadth from the narrow path he had chosen. He said in the Sudan: 'I would gladly give my life for these people.' It was given, and no doubt he can see now what, at last, is being done for them, and is content. He gave to his country, which had consistently neglected him, an example that in these present days of trouble and doubt might serve us well. This, too, was his gift; that through him the message of hope which he bore to distant lands where men walk in darkness and the shadow of death is for ever associated with our race."

A WELCOME VISITOR

Visits on his official occasions of Mr. D. C. Coleman to Victoria have not been numerous recently. He has been otherwise strenuously engaged on business of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, of which he is Vice-President for the West. He was one of the main officials of that company giving evidence before the Duff Transportation Commission and spent much time in Eastern Canada. He has since then frequently been summoned to Montreal for conferences affecting the company. As well, affairs of the Western lines, particularly in the Prairie, have precluded visits to the Pacific Coast. He is here again today, however, and his visit this time coincides with the Empress Mid-Winter Golf Tournament staged by the C.P.R. to show the climatic advantages that favor those who live in this community.

Mr. Coleman is always a welcome visitor. He is one of the most popular and efficient heads of the C.P.R. and one whose astute judgment is an asset of particular value to the company whatever the economic period through which its fortunes are passing. The Vice-President has a great capacity for work and intense application. He is a constant watchman of the transportation machinery of industry in the West, and his absorbing attention to his duties makes him, in company with his fellow officials, always ready to take full advantage of any turn in the tide of economic affairs. Mr. Coleman's value in this and other respects is fully recognized by the company as well as by all who know him and his work.

What is the best cure of influenza, and what, better still, is the best course of prevention. Doctors differ; so do patients, or those prone to the disease which is now recurring in cycles, which mean epidemics that spread far and wide. No less an authority than Sir Arbuthnot Lane recommends whisky, "without hesitation," as having tonic value in the treatment of influenza. Another medical authority says "isotonic,' sea water is the real cure. Sir Malcolm Campbell believes that a few drops of iodine taken daily in a glass of water is a sure preventive. He has recently recovered from an attack, so evidently his specific was not taken in time. It may be doubted if there is any real system of prevention more effective than that of keeping in as good health as possible. That is the best way in connection with avoiding any disease, and especially such outbreaks as reach the proportions of epidemics.

DANGERS OF INFLATION

Lacking proper information, financial charlatans in and out of Parliament declaim against the sound money policy adhered to by the Prime Minister. Their cure-all plan of inflation by the issue of fiat money or "pieces of paper" could result in nothing but disaster for the Canadian people. It is bad enough when a nation like Great Britain is forced off the gold basis after heroic efforts to avoid such action. Any nation may find it expedient in periods of crisis to add within bounds to its currency issues without the full cover of gold. But for a Government to wilfully debauch its currency by unlimited, unsecured issues of paper money would be one of the worst crimes that it could commit against the people for whose welfare it stands responsible.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

We will renew the times of truth and justice.
Condensing in a fair free commonwealth
Not rash equality, but equal rights,
Proportion'd like the columns of the temple,
Giving and taking strength reciprocal,
And making firm the whole with grace and beauty,
So that no part could be removed without Infringement of the general symmetry.
—Byron.

There is a very old proverb about the state of mind of the man who was compelled to take a dose of his own medicine, and an apropos story about the man who on the morning after a merry night was advised to sample a hair of the dog that bit him. Great Britain, which for about a century had been a free trade country, and almost up to the end of the century had prospered exceedingly under a free trade policy, has been giving protectionist countries a dose of their own medicine, and there are rumors in the papers that many of the countries are beginning to consider a possibility of doing business under fair trade policies. Basing our belief on those interesting newspaper rumors, we venture a prediction that "free trade as they have it in England" is as dead as a red herring, and that henceforth we shall hear very little about free trade and a great deal about fair trade—that is international trade which will be conducted upon a mutually beneficial basis.

* * *

As Canadians we are especially interested in this new international trade movement, because but for the action of Canada there would have been no such movement. Only after years of agitation in favor of Imperial Preferential Trade upon the part of Canada could British statesmen and economists divest their minds of a cherished preference for free trade and a rooted prejudice against fair trade, and decide that the time had come to administer to protectionist nations a dose of their own medicine. Not until the United States had practically lost the Canadian market and all nations saw they were in danger of losing the British market was there an indication that foreign politicians were inclined to admit there might be an error in their ways and that there might after all be some advantages in removing at least some of the restrictions they had laid upon international trade; that there might be something in the contention that international trade restrictions were in a measure responsible for the world depression.

* * *

Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King vehemently declared at the time of the late Imperial Economic Conference, and has repeatedly declared since the adjournment of that conference, that the results achieved there would be detrimental to the interests of Canada because they precluded the possibility of Canada gaining freer access to world markets. Both British statesmen and Canadian public men have denied the statements of the Liberal leader. In proof of the contentions of British statesmen, a member of the MacDonald Government stated lately that since the meeting of the Imperial Conference no less than twenty nations had made overtures to the government asking for trade agreements upon what must have been a fair trade basis.

* * *

But the most interesting rumor of all comes from two sources on almost the same day. One rumor originated in Washington and the other in Ottawa. The news from Washington is that one of the first acts of the Roosevelt administration will be an effort to arrange a treaty of trade and commerce with Canada. The news from Ottawa is an official statement from the Prime Minister that Canada will be prepared to negotiate a treaty of trade and commerce with the United States, but that the instrument must be predicated upon certain conditions. The conditions are that the advantages to be derived from the treaty must be reciprocal and that there must be a fixed term applied to the arrangement; that is that the treaty shall not be annulled on the whim of certain elements which are always powerful in Congress and sometimes more powerful in the lobbies of Congress.

* * *

The reason for this predicatory condition is that Canada has had some interesting and always unsatisfactory experiences with the United States—not only in trade agreements. Too often in the history of the relations between the two nations Congress and the state legislatures have undone what the administrations have done. As in the case of the now notorious treaty for prevention of extinction of the sockeye salmon fisheries, local interests have proved more powerful than national and international interests. That is why Canada has reserved the right to delay ratification of the St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty until the measure has been endorsed by the Senate of the United States.

* * *

The government of the United States would never have approached the government of Canada with a suggestion of a treaty of trade and commerce if the people of Canada had not given the people of the United States a dose of their own medicine. There would never have been a suggestion of an American treaty of trade and commerce with Great Britain upon a fair trade basis if Great Britain had remained upon a free trade basis. If the rumors afloat are based upon fact, there is at least a prospect of an armistice being declared in international trade warfare and of the "dawn of a new era" in the peaceful pursuits of trade and industry. In the business of the world even the greatest and the richest of nations cannot have all its own way and prosper.

SALUTING THE KING'S COLORS

Sir,—It was with pleasure that the veterans of the Army and Navy read your editorial in reference to the King's colors in your issue of today.

It is obvious the general public of today are apt to overlook the significance and importance attached to the carrying of these particular colors, namely, "Loyalty to the Throne and Empire," to which we proudly belong.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

Sir, — Whilst in agreement with most of your able articles, in the humble opinion of an Old Country padre, your article in last week's issue seems an error of judgment. In a great measure the Insurance dole has proved a success in the past. In my old parish in Lancashire, with a population of 10,000, mainly industrial and agricultural, the feeling was quite the reverse. For one thing the comfortably-conditioned and the rich and influential classes were rightly made to pay a fair share of the insurance to the benefit of those in poorer circumstances, e.g., those who employed maids to carry on the household services had to pay a certain percentage of the insurance, according to the number and amount of the wages paid, the public funds a fair proportion and the employees a small percentage of their wages. The same applied to each and every employer of labor, the leisure classes, manufacturers, professional men and every grade of society.

There may have been grousers as to the hardship of such taxes on their several incomes, but needs must. The wages of the unskilled laborer, the shop hands and clerks, etc., of my day in England were considerably lower than those paid in Canada, previous to the depression, and yet the employees generally, one believes, did not feel the strain of the small amount deducted from their wages and incomes, to any appreciable extent. Though now that the number of unemployed since the war had gone up by leaps and bounds, due to the general depression and the employment of girls and women instead of men, still there has been apparently less dire distress among the jobless than in this Dominion, also due, cela va sans dire, mainly to the fact that they have had the benefit of their insurance money. The dole is wrongly styled a dole, as it consists really of the money laid aside for such conditions as the present. This seems reasonable and practical.

THE SABBATH DAY

Sir,—I have considerable sympathy with Mr. Bayliss in the valiant bush-whacking which constitutes his letter appearing in the February 19 edition.

But he should realize if he cannot overturn the seven-fold divine dictum of Matthew, Mark, Luke, John and Paul, that identifies our Sunday as the first of Sabbaths, that is as the weekly recurrence of the true seventh day, in Matthew xxviii, 1; Mark xvi, 2; Luke xxiv, 1; John xx, 1 and 19; Acts, xx, 7, and I Corinthians xvi, 2, his case for observing Saturday as the true Sabbath is lost. If he is defeated there, he is defeated everywhere.

He expresses surprise that I should dare to question the "first day of the week" rendering that appears in the seven places named, in the English versions of the New Testament. But he does not seem to understand that not one of the renowned gentlemen who were responsible for the insertion of that false rendering, would have dreamed of asserting that "the first day of the week", was a translation of the original Greek. Nor would a Greek scholar of the present day acknowledge it as a translation. It is simply a false insertion brought forth by deplorable ignorance. The Word of God in those seven places describes our Sunday as the Seventh Day. The Jews claim that Saturday is the Seventh Day. A blind verdict was given in favor of the false Jewish claim, and the Word of God was turned down. That is the whole story. But for all reasonable people to whom the facts come, Sunday is the true Sabbath.

The Rev. T. J. McCrossan, B.A., B.D., for eighteen years examiner in Greek and Hebrew for the Presbytery of Minneapolis, and formally instructor in Greek in the Manitoba University, is well known in Victoria. In his book "The Bible: Christ and Modernism," The Covenant Publishing Company, Ltd., London, 1928, he refers to this day of the week rendering as follows:

"In the whole range of Greek literature the word for week is 'hebdomas' and never 'sabbaton' or 'sabbata', therefore, this New Testament translation is clearly a mistake."

In I Corinthians xvi, 2, the apostle Paul calls our Sunday the first of Sabbaths, the true seventh day, and in Hebrews fourth chapter, he explains that under Joshua, the Israelites lost their true Sabbath which was reserved for observance by the Christian church. In doing so he confirms my explanation that the double day of Joshua was the divine means employed by the Lord to protect His Sabbath from continued dishonor, by hiding it from the disregarding nation. He thus certifies as correct the argument in my letter appearing in the February 16 edition.

The Israelites reckoned that double day as two days, whereas it was just one day. And so they got ahead of true weekly reckoning by one day in the week. They made the sixth day their Sabbath, thus losing sight of the true seventh day Sabbath. That false Sabbath is today our Saturday. The people bound themselves to observe their sixth day Sabbath in accord with the regulations governing the true Sabbath. And since the Almighty God had, for sufficient reason, decreed their loss of the true Sabbath, and had wrought the great miracle mainly to bring about that loss, He also undertook to bless them in a due measure if they should properly observe their sixth day Sabbath.

Furthermore, their sixth day Sabbath became the legal weekly Sabbath, a part of the constituted authority over the nation till the time came for its abrogation. And so the Lord Jesus, who rendered tribute to Caesar, also respected the legal Sabbath of the Jews, till He swept it away in favor of the true seventh day Sabbath, our Sunday. As the Son of Righteousness He rose on Sunday, and as in possession of all power in earth and heaven, He sent forth on Sunday the first outpouring of the Pentecostal Holy Spirit, thus manifestly sanctfying anew the seventh day Sunday as the true Sabbath of the Lord. Without any question that first descent of the Christian Holy Spirit on Sunday when Christian preaching began, certified Sunday as the Christian Lord's Day.

The prophet Hosea states concerning Israel that "her Sabbaths would cease." Mark carefully that Hosea does not say "the Sabbaths of the Lord" but "her Sabbath" That came to pass when Sunday superseded Saturday at the Resurrection. And so Anglo-Saxon-Israel has the true Sabbath, Sunday, while the Jews who reject their Messiah have the false sixth day Sabbath, Saturday. They too, will observe Sunday when they turn to the Lord.

In Colossians ii, 14-16 the apostle Paul asserts Christian freedom from the Jewish Sabbath. Even in that brief compass Paul settles this whole question by disowning the Jewish Sabbath.

THE SABBATH DAY

Sir,—In your issue of Thursday last, your correspondent Mr. R. S. W. Baird again advances the theory, backed by sundry strong assertions, that Sunday is really the seventh day of the week and therefore the true and original Sabbath day ordained by the Lord in the beginning.

More than thirty years ago, a Mr. S. W. Gamble, Methodist minister in the United States, caused a flutter in ecclesiastical circles by the same theory. He arrived at his conclusion, or rather filled out his theory, in a different way from Mr. Baird, but the essential point in both cases is the same, namely, that the expression "First day of the week," occurring in Matthew xxviii, 1, and other six places in the New Testament, is a false transiation, the true rendering being "first of Sabbaths," meaning thereby the true and original seventh day Sabbath of the Lord, thus enigmatically restored to the Christian Church. But the interest and excitement faded out in the light of competent Greek scholarship. A strong article on the subject by Dr. Wilbur Fletcher Steele, published in The Methodist Review, of May, 1899, appeared to give the theory the final quietus. The following is quoted from Doctor Steele's article:

"With hearty sympathy does the writer view every legitimate argument to establish the sanctity and foster the hallowing of the Lord's day. But when a claim on its behalf is distinctly based upon, or forcibly corroborated by, a gross wresting of the Holy Scriptures, suspicion as to its validity instinctively sets in, to say nothing of mortification and repugnance . . . This widely heralded discovery as to Mian sabbaton turns out to be only the glitter of fool's gold. It rests upon the profoundest ignoring or ignorance of a law of syntax fundamental to inflected speech, and especially of the usage and influence of the Aramaic tongue which was the vernacular of Jesus and his apostles. Must syntax die that the Sabbath may live?"

After discussing the matter at length and the usage of the Jews in designating the days of the week, Dr. Steele concludes: "As a vital or corroboratory part of any argument for the sanctifying of the Lord's day, this travestied exegesis, instead of being a monumental discovery, is but a monumental blunder . . ."

Mr. Baird's statement that no Greek scholar would set his name to the translation "first day of the week" seems a little wild in view of the qualifications of the divines who produced the King James Version of the Bible, as well as of those chosen to bring out the revised version when every doubtful rendering was fully discussed.

THE NORTHWEST PASSAGE

Sir,—The lecture given to the B.C. Historical Association on "Historic Routes by Courageous Explorers of the Northwest Passage," is interesting as far as it goes, but doesn't go far enough. The published report says "Many expeditions sent from Great Britain on the sea were not successful before Amundsen finally made his way through," and the lecturer described some of Amundsen's dangers and hardships.

There being most urgent national educational need for a revival of what Carlyle calls "hero-worship," I should like to be allowed to point out that any feats accomplished by modern scientifically-equipped boats, however admirable, can in no way compare, in point of dangers and hardship, with those performed in the search for the Northwest Passage by the little old mediaeval windjammers of the heroic Elizabethan Age, in their voyages among the then uncharted Arctic shoals, storms and icebergs of northern Canada. The exploits of these Anglo-Saxons (says Kingsley) are "more fitted to be sung than said, and some man may yet gird himself to write an epic, conveying the same great message which songs of Marathon and Salamis conveyed to the Greeks of old." History is said to furnish striking illustrations of the effect on national character of the influence of a national ideal constantly kept in mind.

It is unfortunate that the general public, who are not interested in teaching, probably do not realize the importance of heroic types as presented models for children. Young people are, above all, imitative, and are today presented with no models for emulation, apart from models of crime and criminals, pumped into their youthful heads by the movies and other agencies. The dictum of the American Library Association that there must be no "arrant bravery" in the new child-literature is amply borne out also in grown-up literature by the ingenious debunking of every national hero I have read of.

These Tudor navigators, in hunting for the Northwest Passage, were hunting for a practicable, navigable waterway that would serve as a trade route to the other side of the world; and the hole-in-the-fence that Amundsen has found can hardly be termed the trade route that these mediaeval Argonauts were looking for.

One is sorry that Shakespeare, so interested in mouldy old Latin scandals, did not turn the light of his genius on to the remarkable age in which he lived.

The Greeks were fortunate in their incomparable chroniclers, but many of their heroes could hardly be termed heroic, and they had an astonishing habit of making the welkin ring with their sobs when things went wrong. Even Ulysses burst into tears because he couldn't find his way home.

Biography must be "humanized." Attempts to study the Tudors, through the medium of circulating libraries, will, according to my experience, merely be met with a barrage of debunking. Sir Martin Frobisher (according to the writer McFee), must have made his historic hunt for the Northwest Passage in a floating medicine chest, taking along with him every pill known to science. We get a long list of his medicine bottles, ending up with borax and castor oil.

"A man was washed overboard," says McFee, "and would have been drowned, but, the ship rolling over towards him, Sir Martin Frobisher reached out his mighty arms and dragged the poor soul back into the waist of the ship." "Such episodes," writes McFee derisively, "are the guages of the achievements of those great days."

"A DICTATOR"

Sir,—As Diogenes looked in Athens for a man, so is the human race now looking for a dictator. The people whose faith in the various forms of government is waning, clamor for a leader. Many believe that a strong man, a superman, could solve the burning questions of the day, little realizing that the remedy would prove to be worse than the ailment! What is the cause of the troubles of this age and what is the cure? What is the evil we suffer from and which relentlessly gnaws at our systems and ruins them? Whatever newspaper we pick up we find that they all regret the evil as it exists today, the all deplore it, but not one suggests the real remedy! We find fault with the leaves and with the branches, but we ignore the root. If we venture to state that the race has failed morally we expose ourselves to a storm of indignation and yet, turning to those same newspapers, it makes on shudder to read the records of ever increasing financial and social scandals perpetrated in our highly civilized countries! Who can doubt it that this social corruption is hitting humanity in the most vital parts of its conscience and soul?

Then we have the system of education without God which also greatly contributes to the declension of the moral standard just where and when it is most necessary to be held high; the worst corruption being always that of the best! For several decades incredulity has been sown lavishly the world over; the fear of God, a fear that worships, adores and lauds the God of love, has been wrongly described as a cringing, unworthy, slavish submission to an arbitrary God! And now man is reaping what he sowed and eminently so in the moral and spiritual sphere! In many schools incredulity is openly propagated; in many churches also, but more subtly and therefore more dangerously; in many homes, too, through the inexcusable ignorance and indifference of the parents of the most elementary truths of Christianity!

Under these circumstances to wish for a dictator is like courting disaster, for the mentality of such a dictator must of necessity be akin to the prevailing trend of mind, to wit: A man without God, described by the Apostle Paul in Thessalonians ii, 2, as: L'anomos or "that wicked one that shall be revealed . . . even him whose coming is after the working of Satan with all lying wonders!"

Such a man would lead us where Lenine has led Russia, and worse! This it is then where the present crisis (judgment) is bringing us to. The world by enthroning its ideal man will in him give a faithful expression of the real state of its soul, and as surely as the Lord Jesus Christ, the Saviour of whosoever will, is coming again to take up the reins of government of this much misruled world, so surely shall His advent to earth be preceded, for a brief period, by that Dictator, that man of sin, that Antichrist of prophecy! But woe to a Christ-rejecting world on account of such a Dictator! Blessed are they, therefore, that put their trust in the only Saviour of the world, the Lord Jesus Christ!

"MORTALITY"

Sir,—The poem, "O why should the spirit of mortal be proud?" quoted by R. D. B. in today's issue, was written by William Knox, born in Roxburgh, in 1789. It first appeared in his "Songs of Israel," in 1824. My version differs from that of R. D. B.'s in two places:

"O why should the spirit of mortal be proud.
Like a fast-flitting meteor, a fast-flying cloud,
A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave—
He passes from life to his rest in the grave."

This poem is a paraphase on the third chapter of Job and the first of Ecclesiastes. It was admired by a Russian Emperor, by whom it was set in gold and hung on his palace wall at St. Petersburg.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of February 23, 1883)

Needed Improvement — A much-needed improvement to the city is the reclamation of the mud flats at James Bay and the building of a sea wall to hold back the tide. It is to be hoped the City Council will take the necessary steps to formulate the scheme.

Nanaimo Postoffice—On Thursday next Messrs. Smith & Clarke will take a number of masons and other workmen to make a commencement on the Nanaimo postoffice building.

Conditions in U.S.A.—In forty years the population of the United States has grown from 17,000,000 to 50,000,000. In this time the greatest proportional increase has been in the cities. This is one of the great features of our civilization. The great bulk of all the crime and misery of the nation is to be found within the limits of municipalities. Yet there is a desire on the part of young men to crowd into the cities, while those brought up in the latter are rarely fit for country life.

MANY FEATURES TO MARK SHOW

Special Prizes for Winners of Competitions at Automobile Exhibition

Several attractive prizes will be awarded contestants in certain competitions to be held in conjunction with the Spring Motor Show and Fashion Parade, in the Bay Street Armory, for four days, commencing March 1, it was announced yesterday by Aubrey Jones, general manager.

In the model airplane contest for children, cash awards will be made to the winners of the various classes. In another competition being arranged, the first prize will be a free airplane trip to Vancouver and return as guests of the Wells Air Transport Company.

All space for the exhibition of automobiles has been sold, according to Mr. Jones, and there is an ever-increasing demand for other space as the date for the official opening of the show draws near. Several dealers have stated they will show latest models and display all new features, and this section of the exhibition is expected to eclipse all previous performances.

This also applies to the fashion parade, being staged by the Hudson's Bay Company. Women will be afforded an opportunity of viewing the very latest in gowns and other wearing apparel. The fashion show will be held every evening, and every effort is being made to provide plenty of variety in the exhibiting.

Plans to have special entertainment features are progressing rapidly. There will be an orchestra in attendance each night, while pupils of local dancing schools will add diversion to the show.

Aditional information concerning the show may be obtained from the headquarters, at 619 View Street, telephone E 3412.

POULTRY CLASS LISTS REVISED

Minor revisions in the poultry class lists for the B.C. Agricultural Association's Fall Fair were made at a meeting of the Victoria Poultry Association in the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday night. Vice-President Gavin Jack was chairman.

Considerable time was devoted to the revision of the list, and time did not permit completion of the work. The revision is in accordance with instructions issued from Ottawa. The association also recommended to the agricultural organization that the local poultrymen's body be given control of the poultry exhibits.

W. H. GARDNER IS ACCORDED HONOR

Well-Known Real Estate Man of Winnipeg Is Given International Status

William H. Gardner, of Winnipeg, who retires this year from membership in the board of directors of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, has been elected a member of the advisory board of the association. The advisory council consists otherwise of the past presidents of the association, which is representative of the whole of the United States and also embraces Canada in the scope of its activities.

Mr. Gardner is well known in Victoria, where he is a regular visitor and where he has had business relations extending over many years.

The election was by action both of the delegate body and the board of directors, and was suggested to the board of directors by the advisory board itself.

Mr. Gardner has been a member of the board of directors for many years. He served the association as first vice-president for the years 1930, 1931 and 1932, and as a member of its executive committee in 1929.

OAK BAY FORMS FRIENDLY HELP

Need of Organized Relief Work in District Generally Recognized

An Oak Bay Friendly Help Society was organized at a meeting held at the call of Reeve and Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, at their home on Beach Drive. Reeve Mayhew explained that the time was pertinent for such an organization in the municipality, although it did not imply that residents of Oak Bay discontinue their donations to the Victoria Friendly Help, but rather that they augment their giving by caring for the local needy as well.

J. Vaughan Roberts, municipal relief officer, supported the idea and outlined the work of his department. The municipality was providing enough work to meet bare subsistence requirements of the needy only. Thus far, the three Oak Bay churches had handled the clothing situation ably, but with next Winter not far distant and the supplies of church people near exhaustion, the time was ripe for such an all-inclusive relief unit as suggested.

Rev. Canon A. E. deL. Nunns, of St. Mary's Church, seconded by Dr. Gerald B. Switzer, of Oak Bay United Church, framed the resolution that a Friendly Help Association for Oak Bay be organized, and the selection of a committee resulted as follows: Mrs R. R. Taylor, Oak Bay Municipal Council (president pro tem); Mrs. C. Maconachie, Oak Bay school trustees; Mrs. H. L. N. Edwards, Oak Bay police commissioners; Mrs. G. T. Brown, St. Mary's Church; Mrs. Charles Hudson, Oak Bay United Church; the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes representative; consulting members: Miss B. E. Bradshaw, Oak Bay school nurse; J. Vaughan Roberts, Oak Bay municipal relief officer. Mrs. W. J. Gopel was named as the honorary president of the newly-formed organization.

The chemistry laboratory of the Oak Bay High School, near the present high school building, has been offered by the Oak Bay schoolboard as headquarters of the new organization. Further plans of the committee for the reception and distribution of clothing and other supplies will be announced at a later date.

After the meeting tea was served, those present being: Mrs. R. Angus, Mrs. R. F. Blandy, Miss B. E. Bradshaw, Mrs. A. D. Crease, Mrs. T. Drake, Mrs. H. L. N. Edwards, Mrs. William Ellis, Mrs. C. Maconachie, Mrs. A. E. Mallett, Mrs. R. W. Murdoch, Canon A. E. deL. Nunns, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. Gerald B. Switzer, and Mrs. R. R. Taylor.

Due to illness, Rev. Father J. R. Buckley was unable to attend, and a representative of the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes will be appointed by him subsequently.

St. John's A.Y.P.A. were hosts to the inmates of the Old Men's Home on Monday evening, when members of the group gave a delightful concert at the institution. Cigarettes and refreshments were distributed, and, following the performance, the young people held a short dance.

The artists taking part were: Miss Iris Smith, Miss Roberta Bosustow, Miss Clarenda Jeeves, Miss K. Smith, Miss Kathleen Brown, Miss Winnie Millard, Herbert Stark, and Thomas Jackson.

George I. Warren Makes Appeal Before St. Andrew's Y.P.S. to Keep Island Beautiful

Prefacing his address with an appeal for the preservation of Island timber-lands and beauty spots, George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, gave an illustrated lecture on city and Island beauty points to members of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Y.P.S., Tuesday night.

"We have a continent of our own here," declared Mr. Warren, "and I appeal to you to preserve our timber-lands and wonderful scenery to the best of your ability. Cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce and Publicity Bureau in furthering the campaign for world-wide recognition of Victoria as an outstanding place in which to live."

BUTCHART'S GARDEN SHOW

Extremely fine colored slides of Victoria were shown, including views of local golf courses, gardens and homes in and near the city. Butchart's Gardens occupied a prominent place in the slides, as did scenes of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Sidney. Pictures of Up-Island points were shown and the famous virgin forest land around Cameron Lake featured.

Three motion pictures were also seen. These were "The Island of Enchantment," showing views of Victoria and Island; "Fighting Steelheads," featuring the fishing ability of General Noel Money; Qualicum Beach sportsman, and "Game Sanctuary," illustrating the game preserves in the Canadian Rockies.

Brigadier-General Sir Charles Deime-Radcliffe will speak to the Y.P.S. on "Africa," on March 7, it was announced by Alan Anderson, president.

NO TIME LIMIT ON B.C. HOUSE

Fiscal Measures Not Yet Caucused, and Budget Will Be Delayed

Duration of the coming session of the Legislature will depend much on the course of events in the next few weeks, and there will be no undue pressure on the part of the Government to shorten proceedings, it was intimated yesterday by Premier Tolmie. The House will stay open as long as there is business to do, the Premier declared.

Asked if the Government intended to provide any special committees this term, the Premier intimated that no such provision had yet been sought, and that the committees to be appointed will be the usual standing committees of the House. Last year unemployment relief was canvassed by a select committee.

COMMITTEE WORK

The public accounts and municipal committees are expected to produce the heaviest work of the committee rooms this session; while many private pleas will be heard before the private bills committee.

Treasury officials said advent of the budget would be delayed for some time yet, following usual procedure in this regard. The treasury has fifteen days in which to file the nine-months' report of the comptroller-general, and appeared in no hurry to anticipate that move.

MANY REPORTS

Public accounts and annual reports affecting each department will be filed today, it is ext of the Liquor Control Board for the period ending September 30, last, and the operations report of the P.G.E.

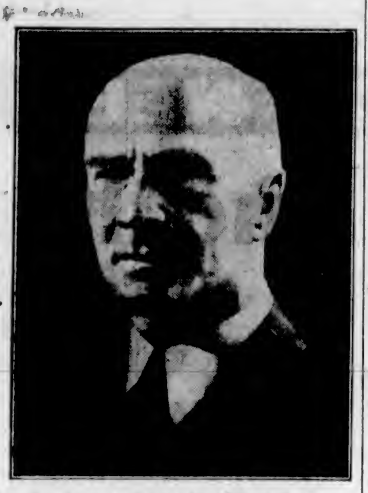

The caucus of Conservative members continued yesterday morning and afternoon, with the mainf fiscal policies of the Government not yet laid before the panel, as far as could be ascertained. There has been talk of taxation increases on higher income brackets, and decrease in the amounts handed out by the Government in municipal distributions; but what precise measures to effect this will be introduced, remains to be seen.

500% Business Increase in past 3 years of "hard times"

This Is Interesting Reading

THOSE whose businesses have been cut in half, or what is worse, practically disappeared entirely—(and unfortunately there are too many such in Canada)—will be surprised to learn of a business that has increased 500 per cent. in the past three years. It is rare these days to find a business that has held its own, much less made such a startling increase. So, doubts of such a statement are natural, yet those who doubt will admit that even in these times of difficult business conditions if they had the field to themselves without competition, they would be almost sure to make a definite business increase, or at least hold their own, even if the product were a luxury. But if the product was of distinct benefit to all the people all the time, belonged in the class of absolute necessities of life, and had the field all to itself, only poor merchandising could prevent a great sales gain. These conditions are present in the case referred to.

The above is a photograph of Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., at 75. After eighteen years of increasing decrepitude and approaching death, Dr. Jackson at 50 was given only four months to live by the great Sir Wm. Osler.

By natural living habits and the use of alkaline foods, Dr. Jackson is today, at 75, able to do anything the average healthy man in his early thirties can do.

Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal, Lishus, Bekus Puddy (pronounced Beck-us) and Kofy-Sub are foods, and foods are necessities. But these foods have the field entirely to themselves. They are the only alkali-forming grain foods, and as more and more is being learned about the value of alkaline foods in building bodies that can resist disease, these Dr. Jackson's Foods have forced their way to a phenomenally increasing consumption and will continue to do so. Such an increase cannot be avoided as civilized people more and more realize that the greatest of all the underlying causes of sickness and disease is an accumulation of acid and toxic or poisonous residues in the body, resulting from an excessive use of acid-forming foods.

Biochemistry asserts: "A normal alkali reserve in the body is Nature's First Defense against fatigue, disease and premature death" and its absence the basic cause of fatigue, colds, 'flu and other diseases.

Food science has determined that if eighty per cent. of the volume or bulk of the food intake consists of alkali-forming foods, we can be assured of a normal alkali reserve with an increased sense of wellness, physical and mental alertness, strength and endurance, as well as protection from colds, 'flu, etc. Such a happy condition is the sure result of a persistent use of alkaline foods, unless it be offset by extreme carelessness or vicious habits of living in other directions.

It is here that Dr. Jackson's alkaline cereals, Roman Meal, Bekus Puddy and Lishus and his alkaline beverage Kofy-Sub have their chance to physically bless mankind, because they are the only alkali-forming grain foods.

It is almost impossible to make a palatable diet without grain foods, and as all grain foods are naturally acid-forming, Dr. Jackson's alkali-forming cereals and beverage must be resorted to by those who would use grain foods freely in their diet and yet build up a normal alkali reserve. Civilized people have been rapidly learning these scientific health facts and naturally they have turned in ever-increasing numbers to alkali-forming Roman Meal, Bekus Puddy, Lishus and Kofy-Sub. So the mystery disappears as to why the great increase of 500 per cent. in sales has occurred in three years, turning these so-called years of depression into "boom" years for the Dr. Jackson alkaline food products.

Dr. Jackson says, "There can be no question that the next three years will witness an even greater sales increase because the health-building value of alkali-forming cereals and beverages is only beginning to become known, and every user of these foods and drink becomes automatically an agency of publicity regarding their health-building value. The enormous number of present users therefore cannot avoid making an enormous sales increase during the next three years".

All three cereals are natural laxatives and, properly used, will correct both atonic and spastic constipation.

Lishus is especially prepared for indigestion, ulcer, colitis, for infancy and child feeding, the undertoned digestive organs from any cause, also for the aged and infirm and convalescents from all forms of sickness. It contains a natural slightly bitter principle, a natural bitter tonic to weak digestive organs, inherent in the rice-polishings which form part of its compound.

80 per cent. of the food intake should consist of alkaline foods. We shall gladly send a list of the other alkaline foods which should go with Dr. Jackson's alkaline cereals; also Dr. Jackson's booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL" to those who write for them—see address below.

E. W. Whittington Is Elected Chairman of Victoria Body With Strong Executive

E. W. WHITTINGTON

E. W. Whittington was yesterday elected chairman of the Victoria and Vancouver Island branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the annual meeting. He succeeds Harry Beach, who is leaving shortly for Great Britain to carry on negotiations for the placing of fruit from this province in the Old Country markets.

The election of Mr. Whittington was unanimous, as were also the other elections for officers for the year. These were W. B. Wilson, vice-president; Major J. B. Hardinge, H. J. Pendray and G. E. Walton, members of the executive; T. J. Goodlake, secretary, and J. O. Cameron, H. A. Leigh and Edwin Tomlin, representatives on the executive of the British Columbia division.

TRIBUTE PAID

In retiring from office, Mr. Beach expressed the hope that the new chairman would have as enjoyable a year as he had had in office. In reviewing the year's activities, Mr. Beach paid a compliment to the interest shown by Captain F. C. Brown, chairman of the British Columbia division, who had attended all their local meetings. He also paid a tribute to the assistance given by the division secretary, Hugh Dalton, and other members of the staff.

Mr. Whittington, in assuming office, wished Mr. Beach abundant success in his activities in the Old Country. The annual meeting took the form of a luncheon gathering at noon in the Empress Hotel.

Salvation Army Will Hear Toronto Officer

Colonel W. R. Dalziel, of Toronto, chief secretary and second in command of the Salvation Army forces in Canada, Newfoundland and Alaska, will visit Victoria today and will lead a public meeting at the Salvation Army Citadel, Broad Street, tonight at 8 o'clock. He will be accompanied by his brother, Major A. Dalziel, of Vancouver, divisional commander for Southern British Columbia; also Mrs. Dalziel, who will be the guest speaker at a meeting for women only, at 2:30, in the Citadel.

Colonel Dalziel became an Army officer in 1904, from Kings Cross, London, England, and has served in the British territory as a field and staff officer.

FUNERAL TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida May Thompson will be held this afternoon. The remains will be conveyed from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home to the Four-Square Gospel Church at 1:30 o'clock. LAKE SHIPPING IS ICEBOUND

Indications Are That Opening of Navigation Will Be Late This Year

SAULTE STE. MARIE, Feb. 22 (CP).—Lake Superior harbors are generally ice-locked, according to the first summary of ice conditions received here today, and in some instances the thickness of the ice does not indicate an early opening of navigation.

The recent cold snap, which kept the mercury at double figures below zero for nearly two weeks, did much to strengthen Winter's fetters at a time when occasional warm days tended to rot the ice. The ice at the Saulte is generally a foot and a half thick, and there are places below the canals where drift ice stalled in the river some weeks ago, piled up and has frozen into solid masses.

The Veteran's Corner

In commemoration of Paardeberg, a supper and musical entertainment will take place at the Pro Patria branch, Courtney Street, at the regular meeting of the British Campaigners tonight, at 8 o'clock. The service, usually held in the Armory, will not take place. Any South African campaigner will be welcome.

Victoria district council of the Canadian Legion will meet tonight at the Naval Veterans' branch, Broad Street. Delegates are again reminded that there is important business to be discussed, and a full attendance is requested.

The Old Campaigners will be entertained by Britannia Branch at their smoking concert on Saturday. A good programme has been arranged. P. C. Payne will be in the chair.

The regular monthly meeting of the Canadian Pensioners' Association will be held in their rooms, 333 Pemberton Building, on Friday, at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

Saves $2. So Easy! No Cooking!

The best cough remedy that money could buy can easily be mixed at home. It costs very little, yet it's the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16-oz. bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and saves two-thirds of the money a family usually spends on cough medicine. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, clears the air passages, and thus ends a severe cough in a hurry.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

TAKES ACTION TO COLLECT ROYALTY

An action, brought by the Attorney-General of British Columbia against the Bank of Montreal for $961.64 alleged due for royalties on timber cut, will be heard in the Supreme Court here next Tuesday. In 1907 the Provincial Government issued a licence to one A. T. Gurd to cut timber under provisions of the Land Act. This licence was assigned to the Bank of Montreal and it was later executed in favor of the Redonda Logging Company. The company cut timber and the Government is seeking payment of a balance alleged to be due as royalty.

Cabaret at Empress Is Enjoyable Social Event

Clever Song and Dance Numbers Appeal to Brilliant Gathering in Crystal Ballroom—Golfers Attend Attractively Arranged Affair

The Empress Hotel ballroom was filled last evening with a merry crowd of dancers who attended the first of the two cabarets, which have been arranged as part of the entertainment for golf week. Great bowls of plum blossom, daffodils and narcissi lent a Spring-like touch to the room, and palms and shaded lights added greatly to the very artistic arrangements.

Many of the visiting golfers and the local players had made up parties for the cabaret, and a most excellent programme was given by the hotel orchestra during supper, and special feature numbers were enthusiastically received by the guests.

CABARET TURNS

The first number was a fascinating Chinese song and dance, in which Doreen Wilson sang the solo, a charming bevy of dancers from the Russian Ballet School entering for the chorus. Their costumes were green and mauve, with brocaded black silk coats and cleverly-fashioned headdresses of the same colorings. Miss Wilson's song was "Chinese Lullaby" and the number was loudly encored.

Miss Ruth Van Vallee, of Seattle, an exceptionally brilliant young dancer, appeared in a striking torch dance, her costume simulating burning flames, and as such she whirled with amazing speed in her intricate dance steps.

Miss "Buddy" Smith, of Vancouver, who has appeared with success on previous occasions, made a great appeal in her numbers, "Home on the Range," an accordion solo, the chorus of which she sang to her own accompaniment. As an encore she played "Pink Elephants."

THOSE ATTENDING

Among those noticed were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Devenish, Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. W. Pinfold, Colonel D. McGougan, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Local Drama Group Ready For Contest

In connection with the Victoria regional elimination contest for the Dominion Drama Festival to be held in Ottawa in April, it was announced yesterday that E. V. Young, of Vancouver, would be in the city shortly to act as adjudicator of the four plays that have been entered from here.

The elimination contest will take place at the Crystal Garden Theatre on Thursday, March 9, when all four competing plays will be produced in the form of a public entertainment, which, those in charge of the arrangements hope, will be witnessed by a crowded house, in order that the competitors may have as much encouragement as possible.

Mr. Young is well known in Vancouver dramatic circles and it is anticipated that his adjudications will be very helpful both to the competing groups and to any others contemplating entering the contests at any time in the future.

REGIONAL COMPETITIONS

For the purpose of working out the Dominion Drama Festival scheme on the simplest possible basis, the whole Dominion has been divided into regions, where regional competitions are to take place before the final festival at Ottawa. British Columbia, for instance, is divided into three districts, from each of which the outstanding group will be selected by adjudication to compete in the all-provincial contest. The winner in the provincial contest will go to Ottawa to compete in the finals.

TODAY'S RECIPE

SUE'S Fudge Cake—Cream together half a cup of butter and one cup of sugar. Add one well-beaten egg and two squares of melted chocolate. Sift together one teaspoon salt, three-quarters of a teaspoon of soda, two cups of pastry flour, one teaspoon of baking powder. Add alternately to the mixture with one cup of sour milk and half a teaspoon of vanilla. Bake for forty-five minutes with the oven at 350 degrees.—Prudence.

The keen rivalry between Victoria's four groups has already attracted considerable attention outside, and a great many persons are already speculating on the outcome of the local contest.

Anglican Young People

St. Columba

The St. Columba's A.Y.P.A. held its regular meeting on Monday night. Mr. E. Gray gave a report on the dance. Letters were read from St. Mark's and St. Luke's, announcing the forthcoming dances. The invitation from St. Paul's arrived too late for the members to participate in the debate. Archdeacon Laycock will give an illustrated address in St. Columba's Church on March 17. Lionel Foster and Robert Smith will look after the games for the church social. Ernest Gray and Maurice Foster gave a report on the conference, and presented the branch with a group photograph.

Directions Given for Water Bottle Cover

Following are directions for knitting a hot water bottle cover:

Two knitting needles, No. 6, two buttons, two ounces of sports wool, any color preferred, and a little wool of another color, with which is embroidered the letters, H. W. B., on the cover. Cast on fifty stitches. Work six rows plain.

Seventh row—Knit 3, * knit 1, make 1 in the same place by knitting into the back of the loop, and repeat from * to the last 3 stitches, knitting these.

Eighth row—Knit 3, * knit 1, bring the wool forward to the front of the work, slip the next stitch purlways, take the wool between the needles to the back of the work, repeat from * to the last three stitches, knit these. Repeat this row till the double fabric measures 11 1-2 inches.

In the next row knit 3, * knit 1, slip the next stitch on to a spare needle, repeat from * to the last 3 stitches, knit 3. Knit 6 rows on the 50 stitches, and cast off. Proceed on the stitches left on the spare needle as follows: Knit 6 rows.

Seventh row—Cast off 6 stitches, knit 7. Knit backwards and forwards on these 7 stitches for 1 1-2 inches. In the next row knit 3, wool forward, knit 2 together, knit 2. Work 4 plain rows, cast off.

Now cast off the next 18 stitches along the top edge, and work the second strap on the next 7 stitches in the same manner as the first strap. Cast off the last 6 stitches.

With a damp cloth and hot iron press the work nicely, sew the buttons on in front, to correspond with the buttonholes in the straps, and, with the other wool, embroider the initials, for which a transfer may have to be used; it should be stamped on to the left-hand corner.

Entertainment at Bamfield Enjoyed

BAMFIELD, Feb. 22.—Bamfield was entertained with a variety entertainment given by the Bamfield Girls' Club and the Bamfield Athletic Club. Much credit is due Mr. and Mrs. Martlew, whose efforts were untiring in making the programme a success. In the first number, little Joan Godson, as a fairy of "yesteryear," sang the songs of long ago. Those who took part in the various songs and choruses of this number were: Mesdames Logvinoff and Peterson, Misses Gabrielle and Cecilia Vanden, Mary and Mabel Fullerton, Joan Godson, Ada Dickinson and Joan Nicholls, Messrs. Schutz, McGee, Greenstreet, Barr, Fullerton and Christney, and members of the C.G.S. Givenchy.

A violin solo was played by Mr. B. H. Robson, of the Givenchy; Gabrielle Vanden and Joan Nicholls gave a Dutch dance, and Mr. C. Greenstreet and Mr. S. W. Fry put on a sketch, entitled "A Night in Flanders." "Dance Imperial," by the following dancers in court costume, was excellent: Mesdames Logvinoff and Peterson, Misses Gabrielle Vanden and Mabel Fullerton, and Messrs. McGee, Schutz, Barr and Stanger. Miss Rita Greenstreet, a very talented elocutionist, gave two delightful monologues.

After a short interval, a sketch, entitled "Fun in a Country Store," was produced. The actors who took part in this were: Mesdames Logvinoff, Martlew and Peterson, and Messrs. Greenstreet, Schutz, McGee, Christney, Fullerton, and Miss Rita Greenstreet. Supper was served and was followed by a dance.

LIBERAL DANCE

A dance will be held in the Liberal headquarters on Monday, under the auspices of Ward One Liberals. Refreshments will be served, and all members are urged to attend.

Weddings

GAIT—HAIGH

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Rev. N. C. Ernston, Kings Road, on February 21, when May, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haigh, Pandora Avenue, was united in marriage to Mr. John Gait, of Cloverdale. Mr. Fred Haigh, brother of the bride, was best man. After the ceremony, the young couple left for Royal Oak, where they will make their future home.

A printer's error—"I've come," said a man who had just been shown into the editor's room, "to see why you called me a political jobber in your paper today." "I regret the error quite as much as you," replied the editor. "Ah, then, you didn't mean to call me that?" "No, sir, I wrote 'robber' very distinctly."

Tricky Frocks for General Wear

Five tricky little frocks that will serve you whether you stay at home or go abroad in search of other climes are sketched.

At the left is a general utility frock of cotton foulard print in a one-color pattern on a dark ground. It has a white, detachable collar.

Striped seersucker makes the second frock. The top has a set-in yoke and a white seersucker band that buttons high up in front. The neat little pocket in the bodice section also is finished with white.

If you are young you'll like the third frock on the seated figure. It's a natural linen with a yoke, puffed sleeves and round, turnover collar printed in dashing red or blue geometrical design. Large colored buttons trim the bib front and match the buckle. The skirt has inverted plaits back and front, and repeats the printed fabric used on the bodice at each side.

A general utility frock is the next one in tunic styling. It is made of red linen. The seven-eights tunic fastens down the front with metal buttons, and the turnover collar gives the high neck which is smart just now. The short sleeves are slightly flared to give the broad shoulder look. The plain skirt is set on a muslin top.

For the girl who prefers her things tailored or for the woman who occasionally likes a plain frock without frills or fussiness, is the nicely tailored shirtwaist frock, right. It is made of cotton broadcloth, striped in two colors. It fastens down the front with mother-of-pearl buttons, and has patch pockets and an inverted plait down the centre back of the skirt.

PARIS STYLES

PARIS (UP).—If you have an old fireplace about the house you are not using for material heating, rig it up as a bar and get spiritual warmth! Easy to do. Have the cabinetmaker fit a series of doors, shelves and drawers right into the entire cavity and there you are. A sliding tray should come out as a shelf, removable for passing purposes. The top of the mantel serves adequately as the top shelf and supports the elbow for resting purposes.

The crossword puzzle sweater has taken a load of smart criticism from the mouths of meticulous maidens. The top is done in neat little black and white squares, which spill over the shoulders and down the back and front. The remainder of the short sleeves and the lower portion of the blouse are white.

Teacher: "Johnnie, now you have in front of you the north, on your right the east, on your left the west. What have you behind you?"

Small Boy: "A patch on my pants. I told mother you'd see it."

SEAWAY TREATY DEBATE DELAYED

U.S. Senate Committee Approves Pact—May Come Up at Special Session

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP). — Consideration by the United States Senate of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty will wait until the special session.

The pact was approved today by the foreign relations committee, but party leaders agreed that there was insufficient time to debate the treaty in the few remaining days of the present session.

The special session probably will be called about mid-April.

The committee registered approval of the project by a vote of fifteen to five, accounting for all but two of its twenty-two members. The first vote was only ten to five, but five absentees rounded up by Chairman Borah all voted "aye."

Magistrate (at Tottenham)—"Have you any witnesses to call to prove your story?"

Man—"I don't believe in having witnesses come here to tell lies.

Peter Rabbit Sneaks Away

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

When pride is hurt hold up your head.
Don't sneak away, but laugh instead.
—Jerry Muskrat.

With a tremendous splash Peter Rabbit had landed in the Smiling Pool. He had tried Little Joe Otter's slippery slide, but he hadn't intended to try it. No, indeed, he hadn't intended to try it. It was an accident. He had gone too near the edge at the top of the bank and had slipped off. He had tried to save himself, but couldn't. He had fallen head first, turned a somersault and finished on his back, his long hindfeet kicking frantically. It wasn't funny to Peter, but it was funny, very funny, to others who saw it and there were several. Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat saw it. Little Joe Otter, Mrs. Otter and the two young Otters, just returning from a trip up the Laughing Brook, saw it. Blacky the Crow, who happened to be flying over, saw it. Sammy Jay, who had just alighted in the Big Hickory on the bank of the Smiling Pool, saw it. And all saw the great splash with which Peter landed in the cold water.

A sorry looking sight, he dragged himself out of the water at the first low place he reached

Now Peter is not fond of water and this water was cold. Yes, sir, it was cold. He went down with his mouth open and he came up strangling and choking and blowing. He came up with just one thought and that was to get out of that cold water and to do it as quickly as he could. He came up right at the foot of the slippery slide and straight away tried to climb out there. Of course he slipped back as fast as he tried. Even Little Joe Otter himself couldn't have climbed out there. Then he began to paddle along to reach a low place where he could climb out. You didn't know Peter can swim? Oh, yes, he can swim. Practically all animals can swim for a short distance anyway. It was nothing to brag about, that swimming of Peter's. He just paddled frantically with his paws and kicked just as frantically with his hind feet, but it sent him along after a fashion, while his friends, seeing that he really was in no danger, shouted encouragement, or made fun of him.

"Go it! Go it, Peter! cawed Blacky the Crow.

"Hold your breath and your nose out of the water!" shrieked Sammy Jay.

"Who says Peter can't swim? Kick, Peter! Kick!" squeaked Jerry Muskrat.

One of the young Otters dived and came up alongside of Peter and pretended to race him. Everybody was having a good time—everybody but Peter. Truth to tell, Peter was scared. Yes, sir, he was scared. He was out of his element, and, although he could swim, he was scared. The more noise the others made the more confused and excited Peter became and the more he tried to hurry. Of course, the more he hurried the more he splashed.

And that water was cold. Yes, sir, it was cold. "Br-r-r-r," chattered Peter as at last, bedraggled and a sorry looking sight, he dragged himself out of the water at the first low place he reached. He shook himself and the water flew in all directions. He shook himself again.

"Hurrah for Peter!" cawed Blacky the Crow. "Hurrah for the champion slider of the Smiling Pool!"

"You mean the champion kicker!" shrieked Sammy Jay.

Peter didn't even look their way. He was wet and cold and his pride was hurt. He was being laughed at and it hurt his pride. Yes, sir, it did so. So instead of throwing back his head and laughing with the others at the joke on himself, Peter sneaked out of sight as fast as he could. He sneaked away through the grass to the nearest bushes and then in among these. Once sure that he was out of sight of his friends he hurried. Lipperty-lipperty lip, he ran.

"I'll never visit the Smiling Pool again, never!" he muttered.

The next story: "Peter Tries to Explain."

WRITER DEFENDS M.C.C. BOWLING

"Bodyline" System of English Trundler Orthodox Attack He Considers

TORONTO (CP).—Recalling various "bowling incidents" in the cricketing world since the days when England's national game was played in top hats, stiff shirts and nankeen breeches, Sydney H. W. Levey, a contributor to the "Fourth Column" of The Mail and Empire, declares the bodyline bowling of Harold Larwood, of Nottinghamshire, is perfectly legitimate.

Larwood's tactics in the last two test matches between Australia and England have caused a furore in the Commonwealth, his "leg theory" being denounced as "unsportsmanlike," and the subject of a protest by the Australian Board of Control to the Marylebone Cricket Club, governing body of cricket.

ANCIENT CONTROVERSY

Mr. Levey refers to the controversy which attended the substitution of a round-arm system of bowling for the old under-arm method more than 100 years ago when William Lilleywhite and James Broadbridge put Sussex at the top of the English cricket heap. "It was a national crisis," says Mr. Levey. "Then someone suggested referring the matter to the Marylebone Cricket Club. The question was dealt with, firmly, faithfully and fairly. A sigh of relief arose: England was saved and the art of bowling really began."

Bowling incidents have been fairly common, Mr. Levey declares, but they have generally tended to improve the game rather than to hurt it.

Dealing with the methods adopted by Larwood in Australia, Mr. Levey says:

"He has been bowling against Australia since 1926, and has at least realised that conventional methods of bowling merely result in our friend Bradman helping himself to a couple of hundred runs or more. He has abandoned the scheme employed by fast bowlers in general, which consists of tempting the batsman to play bowling on or outside the off stump, with the hope of a catch by the slips or wicket keeper. In cricket parlance, his present plan is to bowl a kicking fast ball of good length or just short of it, on the leg stump with a sharp off break. For the non-initiated, this means he delivers a fast ball directed at the leg stump or that part of the wicket nearest the batsman's body, which on striking the ground breaks or curves sharply in toward the batsman in such a way as to cause him to play it awkwardly.

LARWOOD'S THEORY

"The batsman will be prone to mis-hit such a ball in the general direction of the leg side—that is with the break. Larwood has his fielders set almost entirely on the leg side and many catches result, especially as the ball is bumping upwards at the time of impact. It is obvious that Larwood is working on the theory that it is difficult to make a stroke accurately while the bat is close to the body, a circumstance common to all ball games, especially tennis and golf. We do not consider such a method of bowling in any way contrary to either the laws or the spirit of cricket."

The solemn-looking man remarked to his friend: "I hope that you are not unmindful of the fact that we all have a duty to perform. We must combat the unrest which exists in the world."

"I'm doing my very best," said the other.

"How?"

"I manufacture mattresses."

Unsettled Weather Forecast for City

Unsettled weather will continue here, according to the weather forecast issued last night. The barometer remains low over Northern British Columbia and mild weather continues over the province.

Fine, mild weather is reported in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and light snowfalls have occurred in Manitoba.

A well-known humorist is fond of telling this story of his small daughter.

At the dinner table one day there was a party of guests for whom he was doing his best in the way of entertainment. A lady turned to the little girl:

"Your father is a very funny man," she said.

"Yes," responded the child, "he is when we have company."

Fish Exports From Local Cold Storage Plant Steadily Gain

Ss. Norman Star Due This Evening to Load Shipment of Frozen Salmon—Nebraska Expected In Tuesday—French Line Will Take Shipment

The Blue Star Line freighter Norman Star is reported due at William Head quarantine at 4 o'clock this afternoon and should dock at Ogden Point about 5 o'clock to load salmon for the United Kingdom, according to advices received yesterday by William M. Allan, local agent for the line.

Approximately 200 cases of frozen salmon will be loaded into the ship's refrigerators by the Victoria Cold Storage & Terminal Warehouse Limited., Duncan McBride, manager, stated.

NEBRASKA DUE

Mr. McBride also announced the freighter Nebraska due here Tuesday to load 315 cases of frozen salmon, also for the London market.

On Friday the plant will ship, by scow to Vancouver, 200 boxes of frozen small cohoes for loading on the French line freighter Eda. This latter shipment will be discharged at La Havre. In all, a total of 75,000 pounds of frozen salmon will be shipped from the cold storage plant at Ogden Point in these three consignments.

FRENCH MARKET

Mr. McBride stated yesterday that since the January 1 there has been a steady shipment of frozen fish going out of this port for the French market, which has been recently developed by the use of a new process at the local plant. There appears to be quite a demand for small cohoes on the French market, providing they are processed properly, he said.

Since the close of the last fishing season, the local plant has exported some 300,000 pounds of frozen salmon and all stock in storage should be cleared out by the first week in March, Mr. McBride said.

The plant will not start freezing fish again until the season for springs opens in the early part of June.

SEAMAN LEAPS INTO ICY SEA

Prisoner Jumps From Cliff to Rescue Man Reported to Be Insane

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Feb. 22 (CP).—Officers overpowered a husky maniac fisherman after he leaped over a cliff into icy seas, and sent him today to a Portland, Oregon, sanitarium, by airplane and boat.

Gus Hoseth, 200-pound Bristol Bay fisherman, reported insane by his companions, was taken into custody by United States Marshal Murray Stater, of Anchorage, but while they were walking along a narrow trail above Dillingham, to take a plane, Hoseth leaped over a steep 100-foot bluff.

While he struggled among battering cakes of ice, other officers who were nearby with two prisoners, responded. "Bristol Bill," a prisoner, jumped over the same bluff and dragged the raving man ashore.

The marshal bound Hoseth and stowed him aboard a Pacific Airways plane piloted by Matt Niemenen, who landed the party at Anchorage.

Hoseth was placed on the steamship Alaska for transportation to the sanitarium at Portland.

Then there was that young lady who thought that the cleverest thing the astronomers have done consists in their finding out the names of the stars.

FAMOUS LADY ABOARD TAFT

Mrs. T. Roosevelt Deftly Turns Aside All Political Interviews

With a graciousness that won for her the sobriquet of "The democratic Republican," among those aboard the Ss. President Taft, which dicked from the Orient, Tuesday night, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the late President and mother of the Governor-General of the Philippine Islands, received newspaper men in her de luxe suite on her return from Manila.

She has been visiting her son and is now en route home. She is accompanied by her traveling companion, Mrs. Clara Lee.

EVADES QUESTIONS

Many questions were put to her regarding the latest developments in Japan, coupled with the recent action of the United States Congress in granting conditional independence to the Philippine Islands, but she evaded them all with:

"I guess you young men know as much about it as I do."

This seventy-two-year-old white-haired woman of slight build, who once occupied the White House, shook hands with her questioners, and, with a charming smile and expressions of regret, escorted the reporters to the passageway, where they finally realized that nothing of real political significance had been uttered by this keen follower of international politics.

ARRANGE RECEPTION

Later, Mrs. Roosevelt was waited upon by a deputation of American Legion officials from Seattle, who arranged a big reception there for her in the Olympic Hotel.

Among the delegates were: Mrs. E. Hanley, national organiser; Mrs. E. G. Waldron, convenor of the reception committee; Harry Lewis, state commander of the American Legion, and Walter Justi, commander of the Col. Theodore Roosevelt Post, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A discussion had arisen in the club upon the subjects of tariffs. The principal protagonists, having exhausted their arguments, appealed to the only other member present, a wealthy but not particularly well-educated member.

His tactful reply was: "No gentlemen, I ain't going to side neither with the one nor the other. If you don't mind I'd prefer to remain quite putrid."

All Dressed Up and Somewhere to Go

LIEUT.-COL. V. S. BLACKER

Encased in an especially made suit, fitted with electrical heating apparatus and oxygen tubes, Lieutenant-Colonel Blacker, of the British Royal Air Force, is shown as he prepared to ae aloft to test the outfit which he will wear in the forthcoming flight over Mount Everest. Colonel Blacker is one of the pilots of the expedition.

MINE STRIKERS SEARCH VESSEL

Fourteen Men for Anyox Are Transferred From Ss. Prince Rupert

PRINCE RUPERT, Feb. 22 (CP).—Fourteen men bound from Vancouver to the plant of the Granby Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company at Anyox, were taken from the steamer Prince Rupert outside the harbor here and sent through to their destination on the tug Granby.

A committee, representative of strikers from among former employees of the Anyox plant, met the Rupert on her arrival here and were permitted to search the ship.

It was the embarkation of these fourteen men at Vancouver on Monday night that caused a disturbance in that city when police battled a crowd for about two hours.

CAPITOL OFFERS TENSE MYSTERY

Edna May Oliver and James Gleason Add Comedy to "The Penguin Pool Murder"

Edna May Oliver and James Gleason comprise a joyous comedy pair who sprinkle a tense mystery melodrama with snappy fun and solve two murders, two love affairs and several other serious matters of crime and romance in "The Penguin Pool Murder," starting today at the Capitol Theatre.

Miss Oliver portrays a tall, angular, outmoded schoolmarm in this RKO-Radio thriller. She dresses like Queen Mary of England and carries a silver-handled large-knobbed black umbrella, rain or shine, fair or cloudy. With Gleason, as a smart-aleck, wise-cracking, know-it-all police inspector, Miss Oliver makes "The Penguin Pool Murder" a laugh-packed, fast-moving comedy-mystery.

"The Sport Parade" specializes in no particular sport, but utilizes all as a background for a down-to-earth sincere love story about two boys, inseparable pals through preparatory school and college, and a girl.

DOMINION THEATRE The mazes of San Francisco's Chinatown, its plots, intrigues and tong battles, and the romance of a Chinese girl who sells herself at auction to aid her countrymen, furnish the dramatic background of "The Son-Daughter," in which Helen Hayes, heroine of "The Sin of Madelon Claudet," and Ramon Novarro are teamed at the Dominion Theatre.

FINE RECEPTION FOR TROUBADOURS

Local Concert Company Praised Following Performance at Beginning of This Week

Applause and unstinted praise were bestowed on the Troubadours Concert Company on the fall of the final curtain at their concert at the City Temple on Monday night last. All of the performers excelled themselves in their own particular numbers, while the concert items caused laughter throughout the show.

The audience included many professional artists, who were delightfully surprised to find that the production compared favorably with any road show seen in Victoria in years. Many new bookings were made after the show and members of the company were later guests at a no-host party held at the home of a well-known Victoria hostess. An impromptu midnight matinee was staged and proved such a success that the company intends to make a feature of these performances in the future.

Congratulations are being received by telephone and letter and the success of Victoria's own concert company is assured.

Romano Presents "Street of Women"

Kay Francis, undoubtedly the screen's most compelling brunette star, has never been more lovely or more fascinating than in "Street of Women," her new Warner Brothers production, which opens today at the Romano Theatre.

This drama of modern skyscrapers, the men who conceive and build them and the women who inspire them, is an excellent vehicle for Miss Francis' beauty and dramatic ability. No one portrays better than she the young woman of 1932, talented and attractive, who makes a career for herself, only to find that success is only half of life, and the lesser half without love.

The poignantly-human drama of "Street of Women" moves engrossingly against a brilliant background of New York's mansions, penthouses, skyscrapers and night clubs, under the deft and able direction of Archie Mayo.

Ten Stars Appear In Big Broadcast

"The Big Broadcast," which opens at the Columbia Theatre today, is one of those extraordinary films which come along occasionally—product and echo of the moment we live in.

Stuart Erwin, in the role of Leslie McWhinney, heads a cast that also includes Leila Hyams as Anita Rogers, Bing Crosby as the popular air troubadour, Sharon Lynne as the dancer who wins Bing's heart, George Burns as the president of the radio station, Gracie Allen as the reception clerk, the Boswell sisters as the telephone operators, and Kate Smith, the Mills brothers, Cab Calloway and his orchestra, Arthur Tracy (the Street Singer) and Vincent Lopez as themselves—entertainers for the "Big Broadcast."

"Those We Love" at Playhouse Today

Mary Astor, who recently became the mother of a girl, returns to the screen in a featured role in "Those We Love," a World Wide production based on the stage play by S. K. Lauren and George Abbott. It will be seen at the Playhouse Theatre today.

In addition to Miss Astor, the roster of players includes such popular favorites as Kenneth MacKenna, Lilyan Tashman, Hale Hamilton, Tommy Conlon, Virginia Sale, Forrester Harvey and many others.

Chester Morris and Mae Clarke head the roster of players in "Breach of Promise," an added feature now current at the Playhouse Theatre, a screen adaptation of Rupert Hughes' Cosmopolitan Magazine story, "Obscurity."

In this latest feature, Morris is seen as a popular senatorial candidate whose chances are dashed to bits by a compromising situation in which he innocently finds himself.

'THE FAITHFUL HEART' AT EMPIRE TOMORROW

In "The Faithful Heart," the splendid human interest story in which Edna Best and Herbert Marshall are starred, and which is booked for showing at the Empire Theatre for one week, starting tomorrow, occurs a highly dramatic episode in which the hero is forced to choose wether he would retain the love of his daughter or that of his sweetheart. The scene is one that will long remain in the memory of those who witness it.

In "The Faithful Heart" the situation is handled in a delicate and most pleasing manner. The picture is hailed as an even better production than "Michael and Mary," in which Edna Best and Herbert Marshall scored so heavily with both Canadian and United States audiences.

Arrive in Old Land

"LONDON WALL" TO BE GIVEN AGAIN TONIGHT

By special request, the Theatre Club will repeat its presentation of "London Wall" at the Crystal Garden tonight, to accommodate those who were unable to secure admission yesterday. This will be Victoria's last opportunity to see this excellent production by a company of talented local artists of professional and advanced amateur experience.

The play is a sophisticated modern drama of London business life, and is laid in the office of Messrs. Walker, Windermere & Co., solicitors. The office staff is portrayed by Barbara Hall, Noel Cusack, Betty Jennings, Gladys Sheppard, Herbert E. Pott and Christopher Frere, while H. F. Hewett plays the head of the firm. Mme. Scott-Burritt gives a remarkable characterization as the rich eccentric, while David Denbigh plays the young and hesitant lover. The play is in aid of the Citizens' Recreation Room.

SPECTACULAR FILM IS COMING TO DOMINION

Something different in pictures will be provided for Victoria theatre patrons in the magnificent spectacle and latest De Mille production, "The Sign of the Cross," which will be shown for one entire week at the Dominion Theatre, starting Saturday.

"The Sign of the Cross" is not great merely because it is good entertainment, because it is spectacular and lavish, but because it combines all these elements to form a picture, thrilling, satisfying and absorbing.

It is spectacular as no picture has been for the last five years or more. The great feasts and debaucheries of degenerate Roman nobles, the magnificence and extravagance of a wealthy and decadent civilization, the sight of a city in flames, the vast amphitheatre completely filled with a howling excited crowd, the Christian martyrs meeting in secret, soldiers of the empire in their military trappings—all of these help to make the picture one of awe-inspiring magnitude.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

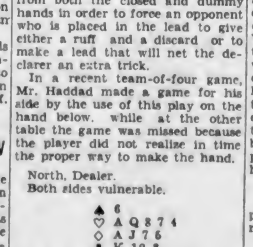

MASTERS OF BRIDGE

Mr. Louis J. Haddad, of Chicago, is recognized in the great metropolis of the West as one of the greatest bridge players in a city which boasts many experts. With Robert W. Halpin, Nils M. Webster and Max M. Cohen, now dead, he has brought more than one championship to his city and to the Auction Bridge Club, of which he is a leading member.

Mr. Haddad recognizes instantly all the standard situations about which so much is written, such as squeezes, coups and forced leads. There is one type of very fine play which does not bring such instant recognition from other bridge players, but really is as beautiful a play as is possible at the bridge table. That is the play known as the "elimination play," which requires the elimination of one or more suits from both the closed and dummy hands in order to force an opponent who is placed in the lead to give either a ruff and a discard or to make a lead that will net the declarer an extra trick.

In a recent team-of-four game, Mr. Haddad made a game for his side by the use of this play on the hand below, while at the other table the game was missed because the player did not realize in time the proper way to make the hand.

North, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♡	Pass	3♡	Pass
4♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

The opening lead was the diamond two, which is admittedly not the best lead from the standpoint of double dummy play. No doubt, the safest opening, as the cards lie, is a trump, but East, while he would not lead from a major tenace, could see no harm in the opening of the fourth-best from his minor tenace in diamonds. Mr. Haddad won the trick with the ace of diamonds, and could see the probability of defeat by the unfavorable location of key cards in diamonds and clubs, unless East could be forced to lead one of his suits. With this thought in mind, he planned the play of the hand.

The ace of spades was at once cashed, and a spade ruffed in the closed hand. The dummy was then re-entered by leading a trump, and the remaining spade trumped in the North hand. A second round of trumps again put dummy in the lead, with all the adverse trumps drawn and spades eliminated from the closed and dummy hands. Now a small diamond was led from dummy, with North planning to cover whatever card was played by West. When West played the three, North played the five, East won with the eight, and the success of the contract was assured. His hand now contained nothing but two diamonds and four clubs. The queen of diamonds was high, and the club ace, of course, was good, but through careful planning of the play, the declarer was assured of his contract.

TOMORROW'S HAND

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

West, Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

ORGANIZATION OF LIBERALS MOOTED

Oak Bay Association Plans Intensive Drive—Major Moodie Gives Address

Oak Bay Liberals will commence a steady grind of organization in preparation for the coming provincial election, it was decided at a meeting of the association held in Liberal headquarters last night.

An intensive drive by the Liberal party to secure new members and to relist present members was announced by C. W. Stocker, chairman. A number of printed pledges were issued and all present were requested to secure as many signatures as possible. It was also decided to hold regular meetings twice monthly, on the first and third Mondays of each month, in Liberal headquarters.

Major S. F. M. Moodie, Liberal organizer, reiterated his firm belief that the present Provincial Government would not be returned to office. He attacked the Tolmie Government, and claimed that the previous Oliver Cabinet had a remarkably effective record, in spite of all that had been said to the contrary. He especially stressed the necessity for paying strict attention to the voters' lists, in order to avoid party supporters being unable to record their franchise through the absence of their names.

J. B. Clearihue urged the necessity for unremitting work, in order to bring about a Liberal victory at the coming election. Alderman W. H. Kinsman, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, issued an emphatic denial to rumors that, he said, were going the rounds regarding the possibility of the Liberal party taking part in a form of coalition or union government. He stated that any remarks made by leaders of the party did not give that impression.

URGES STUDY OF JAPANESE LIFE

Dr. Margaret Addison, Back From Orient, Speaks at Reception in Her Honor

"Let us in Canada understand Japan before we adopt a condemnatory attitude, remembering that for two hundred and sixty-five years prior to 1868, when her Westernization began, she was under military class rule, and remembering also the terrible pressure the country is under today in the matter of territory for her rapidly-increasing population. Even if we don't approve of what she is doing, we can at least understand and sympathize," said Dr. Margaret Addison, former Dean of Women at Victoria College, Toronto University, in addressing a combined gathering of university women and Y.W.C.A. members at a reception given in her honor Tuesday evening.

To convey an idea of the terrific overpopulation of Japan, she quoted figures showing that to the square mile of arable land that country had 2,774 persons as compared with 2170 in Great Britain, 1,709 in Belgium, 819 in Italy, 806 in Germany, 467 in France, and 229 in the United States. Thirty-five per cent of the farmers tilled farms of less than one acre; thirty-four per cent tilled less than two and a half acres. While the birthrate was enormously high (over 2,000,000 annually), the death rate was also high, 1,214,323 in 1927, of which 37.7 per cent were of children under four years of age, many of whom had succumbed from lack of sufficient food because the country is unable to produce sufficient for its population. The economic stress is largely responsible for the enormous number of suicides, 15,114 in 1928, among these being many instances of family suicides that had included 500 children.

GIVES DESCRIPTION

Dr. Addison opened her talk with a little description of the geography, history and customs of Japan, showing the source of Japanese traditional culture and ceremonials, with special reference to the emphasis placed on courtesy, good manners and conventional dress and behavior. One could not but admire a nation that had responded so wholeheartedly to the progressive influence of Westernization, for in the little more than sixty years since the country was thrown open they had developed to Occidental perfection their roads, electric systems, railways, hospitals, sanitation, and army and navy.

Mrs. T. H. Johns, artistically accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Warn, charmed the audience with two solos, Rachmaninoff's "Silence of the Night" and Greig's "Am kahne." Refreshments were served later by a committee in charge of Mrs. T. H. Slater, Mrs. Street, Mrs. Alan Gardiner and Miss Jean Maclaren.

"SCREW UP YOUR COURAGE"

This is one of the modern sounding popular expressions in our common speech. "Screw up your courage" is a phrase used alike by masters of English and those of the lowest cultural or social order. And, during the Great War, how must its author's ears have burned, if where he is today one's ears do burn, on the countless occasions when the phrase served men going over the top.

These words are not an invention of modern slang. They have their source with that master of words, Shakespeare, in his tragedy of Macbeth, where Lady Macbeth says, in desperation:

"We fail,
But screw your courage to the sticking place,
And we'll not fail."

VARIOUS TOPICS ARE DISCUSSED

Addresses on a variety of topics were presented by five student speakers at the meeting of the Victoria College Science Club on Tuesday night. Howard McMahon presided. Miss Mollie Little spoke on "The Three Famous Geometric Problems of Antiquity"; Gerald Ward dealt with "The Planitesimal Hypothesis"; Ian Strang with "Mine Cases"; William Findlay with "Toxicology," while Thomas Jackson spoke of Bishop Berkley and his philosophical theories. Following the talks, Professor Walter Gage, honorary president, submitted brief criticisms of the papers.

Hearts	0	3	0	4	17	0

Navy and Hudson's Bay kept pace in the race for the Pendray Cup, symbolic of the league championship, by coming through with their third straight victories in the Wednesday Football League yesterday afternoon. The sailors blanked the Hearts by a 5-0 score at lower Beacon Hill Park, while the Bays nosed out Spencer's at Heywood Avenue grounds, 1-0. Empress Hotel sprang another surprise at the expense of Saanich United by taking the points at Central Park by a 1-0 count. Next week the Navy and Hudson's Bay will meet in a match that may break the deadlock for premier berth.

As a result of yesterday's matches, the Bays and sailors are tied with three wins each, while Saanich United, Spencer's and Empress Hotel are deadlocked for second place with a victory each. Hearts are occupying the cellar with three successive setbacks. A strong wind marred the games at the Hill and Central Park, while conditions were comparatively good at Heywood, except that the pitch was a trifle slippery from the early morning rain.

HARD BATTLE

With both teams at full strength, the Bays-Spencer's clash was one of the hardest fought of the season. Play was fast from start to finish, and a draw would have satisfied the large crowd. The lone marker came shortly before the interval, when Sam McKenzie converted a fine cross from Owen Bentley.

From the kick-off the Bays pressed hard and Hardie, Spencer's goalie, made some fine saves from McKenzie, Fish and Woodley. The winners kept up the pressure, but the defence of Bissell and Cann, and the goal-tending of Hardie, averted any early scoring. Spencer's broke away on repeated rushes, but their forwards were too far back and lost the ball nearly every time to the Bays' halves and fullbacks. Dick Bradley had a golden opportunity when he broke through by himself with only Shrimpton to beat. The veteran goalie rushed out of his net to meet the onrushing forward and the ball deflected off Shrimpton over the bar. Spencer's swept right back in the Bays' area from the resultant kick-off, and Les Bradley brought Shrimpton to his knees with a fast, low drive.

WINNING GOAL

After thirty-five minutes, Hudson's Bay scored the lone goal of the match when Bentley was sent away up his wing. He tricked two of the opposition and then crossed over right to the goalmouth. McKenzie was waiting for the ball and tapped it into the net before Hardie had a chance to retrieve it. The interval came shortly after, with Spencer's trying hard for the equalizer.

The second half started with Spencers swarming around the Bays like a bunch of bees, but they failed to tally. Once the ball stayed in the penalty area for about five minutes, but nothing happened. Les Bradley drove in hard from close quarters, but Shrimpton was right on the job and saved splendidly.

Munroe nearly scored, but his terrific shot skimmed the crossbar. Hardie made some fine saves at the other end. Just before time, McKenzie came close with a hard shot, which sailed over the bar at lightning speed.

McKinnon refereed and teams follow:

Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton, Coates, Menzies, Davis, Mercer, Oakman, Woodley, Fish, Ferguson, McKenzie, and Bentley.

Spencer's—Hardie, Bissell, Cann, Jones, Clarke, Wright, L. Bradley, Munroe, D. Bradley, Luxton, and Plater.

HOTELMEN WIN

Saanich United were handed a big surprise package by the Empress Hotel, at Central Park, in the way of a 1-to-0 defeat. From the start, the suburbanites took matters too easily, and only have themselves to blame for dropping the points. Saanich apparently thought they had the game cinched before the referee blew his whistle, but after ninety minutes they found out differently. The feature of the game was the fine display put up by Empress Hotel's fullbacks, Rawnsley and McLellan, and the good goal keeping of Wemsley. After the hotelmen registered their lone marker, the whole squad played well.

Twenty-five minutes after the start, Ernie Chesworth rushed in for a rebound off Collins, Saanich goalie, and banged in what proved to be the deciding tally. From then on the hotel eleven played defensive soccer and, although Saanich pressed like Trojans in the second half, they failed to get home the equalizer.

Davies refereed and teams follow:

Saanich United—Collins, Blanco, O'Connell, Stonier, Moir, Love, Kennedy, Ward, Price, Kelman, and Obee.

EASY VICTORY

Three goals from the toe of "Tug" Wilson, stellar Navy centre forward, and one each from Williams and Marr, gave the sailors a 5-0 victory over the Hearts at Lower Beacon Hill.

Navy were held to a 1-0 score at half time by their youthful opponents, but piled up four tallies in the second period with the wind at their backs.

The first half was a ding-dong battle, but the Hearts crowded one another too much and lost several good opportunities to score. The Navy backs were good, especially White, and Robinson, at centre half, was a tower of strength. Wilson scored the only goal in this period with a first-timer from Roberts' pass.

In the second period the Navy had things mostly their own way and ran in four more goals. Wilson got two, Williams one, with a good swerving shot from the wing, and Marr hit the cross bar from a melee in front of the goal, the ball bouncing down into the net.

Johnson refereed and the teams were:

Navy—Barker, White, Stone, Sadler, Robinson, Bennalick, Roberts, McDonald, Wilson, Marr Williams.

MOUNT NEWTON TROUNCES CARDS

Eric Butler Is Big Factor in Suburbanites' Hoop Victory Over Local High School

In a game that featured the marksmanship of Eric "Blondie" Butler, who scored 22 of his team's points, Mt. Newton High School tightened their hold on second place in the Lower Island Inter-high Basketball League when they trounced Victoria High School Cardinals, 38-23, on Tuesday afternoon on the West Road floor.

The first half was rather slow, with Butler breaking the ice with a fine long shot. Cards scored two and Newtons equalized soon after. And so it went on for the remainder of the half, with Mount Newton on top at the break, 18-12. In the second canto, Butler went on a scoring bee, and rang up five baskets in quick succession. Cards scored two, but were unable to overcome a ten-point lead. Charlie Ozard refereed.

Teams and individual scores were as follows:

Cardinals—Andrews (9), Wallis (5), Macmurchie (3), Taylor (4), Shepherd (1) and Haddon (1).

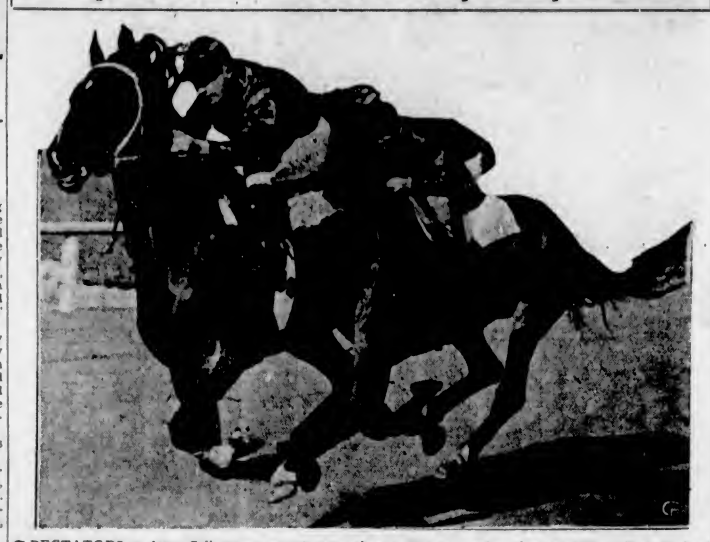

Mount Newton — Thomson (6), Butler (22), May, Sluggett, Greenhaigh (2), Oakes (6) and Young (2).

Halifax Wolverines Wallop Charlottetown

HALIFAX, Feb. 22 (CP).—Halifax Wolverines took a long step towards final battle with Moncton for the Maritime Senior Hockey League title tonight, as they ran riot through a demoralized Charlottetown crew, to score a 7-1 victory.

Antipodean Horses in Impromptu Race

SPECTATORS at Agua Caliente race track were given a rare treat when the two famous New Zealand horses, Pillow Fight and Tea Trader, the former a blood relation of the late lamented Phar Lap, staged an impromptu race prior to the running of the Agua Caliente Handicap, won by Phar Lap last year in record time. Pillow Fight is being heralded by experts as one of the outstanding contenders in the race, and chief threat to Gallant Sir. The two horses from the other end of the earth are seen above in a remarkable action picture as they galloped around the quarter-mile course in a handy :23 seconds. Pillow Fight is the leading horse. Note that all eight hoofs are off the ground. The horses are the property of David J. Davis, San Francisco.

DUNCAN WILL FACE JOKERS

Soccer Squads to Meet in Final of Milton Cup Series on Saturday Afternoon

Jokers and Duncan, two leading teams, will battle it out, Saturday afternoon, in the final of the Milton Cup series in the First Division of the Victoria and District Football League, at Central Park at 3 o'clock, with McMillan as referee. In the second match, which will be an exhibition, Outer Wharf Rangers will meet Maccabees-Wards at Heywood Avenue grounds at the same hour.

With an unbeaten record behind them, Duncan will be favored to win from the Jokers in the feature match. The Up-Islanders have taken all opposition into camp since the curtain went up and are bringing down a formidable eleven to meet the Jokers. Jokers are in fine condition and should give a good account of themselves in the fixture. Extra play will be necessary if the squads are deadlocked at the end of full time.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

A Precocious Recitation—Alexander Hamilton was born in the Island of Nevis, in the West Indies. At the age of four he was sent to a small school, which happened to be kept by a lady of the Jewish persuasion. One day young Alexander climbed up on a table and with his hands behind demanded instant attention. To the great indignation of his father, who was alarmed at the child's precocity, he proceeded to recite the Decalogue in the original Hebrew, taught him by the Jewish lady.

COLLEGIANS DEFEATED BY HIGH SCHOOL

Patrick and Peden Score for Fernwood Squad in Hectic Rugby Tussle

A well-trained pack of forwards, who had their dribbling game down to perfection, and a speedy and shifty backfield, aiming well, gave Victoria High School a 9-0 win over Victoria College intermediate Rugby squad yerterday, in the postponed match, scheduled as part of the Kiwanis sports week programme. A fair crowd witnessed the game, which was played at Royal Athletic Park.

There was no comparison between the teams as far as play went, High having the edge from the start. College appeared to be disorganized, and two fumbles by Carey, at fullback, cost the students six points. High School were on the ball all the way, and made up for their loss of brawn by using their heads.

HIGH SCHOOL PRESSES

High School kicked off with the wind in their face. A fine kick by Carey sent the ball to midfield. The Fernwood players went into the scrum, and a sweet three-quarter run put the ball on College twelve-yard line. Sangster made a valiant attempt to break away, but Patrick dropped him with a flying tackle. A series of dribbling plays by High School put the ball close to College's line, but Carey relieved with difficulty. Peden to Levy to Leason, in a fast passing tackle, was broken up on College line by Bob Ferguson. Mayhew and Banks made a nice run for College as the half died.

College took the offensive from the kick-off, but Okell booted to midfield to relieve. Price dribbled deep into Students' territory. Carey fumbled and was forced out at the corner.

PATRICK SCORES

Carey dropped the ball, and then went offside. From the resulting free kick in front of the posts Patrick converted. Soon after, on an identical play, Peden scored, bringing the score 6-0 for High.

In the dying moments of the game Peden dribbled through College from centre to score between the posts. Patrick sent the kick yards wide.

College pressed hard and worked like Trojans, and twice came within inches of scoring. Banks raced over, but dropped the ball and Okell kicked to midfield as the game ended.

Ley refereed. Teams follow:

College—Carey, Ferguson, Coventry, Luttrell, Ward, Mayhew, Andrews, Beckett, Gray, Mouatt, Banks. Upward, "Scoop" Sangster, Stewart and McKenzie.

High School — Okell, Halkett, Price, Gaunt, Surphlis, Fraser, Shepherd, Ritchie, Patrick, Peden, Levy, Leason, Rowlands, Guelpha and Doheny.

ANNUAL RACE WILL BE HELD

Britannia Branch Road Event Carded for Good Friday Over Same Distance

The Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., will stage its annual road race on Good Friday morning, April 14, when the three races for seniors, juniors, and juveniles will be held over the same course as last year. The arrangements are in the hands of a committee, which will give publicity to the details at a later date.

The course for these races will be over the same ground as on previous years and the ages for competitors for the senior race will be over eighteen years of age, and such competitors must hold Amateur Athletic Association cards for the year 1933 before their entries will be received.

A number of inquiries have been received in connection with the races, especially from the Y.M.C.A., which can be relied upon to furnish a strong team again this year.

The juvenile event for youngsters under fourteen years of age, which has proved very popular since its inception, is also expected to turn out a strong field.

Corbett and Miss Mary Money Score Victories In Empress Tournament

Former Defeats F. Wilkinson, 2 and 1, as Latter Eliminates Miss Norah Wilson, 2 Up—Gordon Money Beaten in Handicap and Open Events—Matches Keenly Fought

Quarter-finals in the men's handicap championship and semi-finals in the women's handicap and open events were reached yesterday at the Victoria Golf Club as the fifth annual Empress Midwinter tournament continued. Once again a clear sky greeted the competitors, but a stiff wind considerably hampered the players. Both "Ollie" Corbett and Miss Mary Money, medalists in their respective divisions, advanced to the next rounds.

Yesterday's matches produced a number of interesting struggles, both in the championship events and the various flights, and two went an extra hole before a decision was reached. Play will continue today and tomorrow, with the handicap finals scheduled for Saturday.

For those knocked out of the championship and flights, a par competition will be held today. Those wishing to play are asked to file their entries with the starter. Tomorrow a mixed foursome will be held.

TAKES EARLY LEAD

After taking the first three holes of his match with F. Wilkinson, of Vancouver, Corbett was forced to play consistent golf the rest of the journey to score a 2 and 1 victory. Wilkinson proved to be a great fighter and several times was only one hole down. D. L. Gillespie sprang somewhat of an upset when he eliminated Jack Forde by a 6 and 4 margin. Gillespie played sound golf throughout the match.

A Far East visitor scored the greatest triumph of the day when A. H. Forbes, of Shanghai, eliminated Gordon Money at the nineteenth hole. This match was a nip-and-tuck affair throughout and neither had any great advantage during the match. Money had the best gross card, a 70, in the qualifying round, Monday.

G. K. Thompson, of New York, was the other visitor to advance to the quarter-finals when he defeated Captain Merston, 5 and 4. Harold Wilson, runner-up to Bill Pomeroy for the championship last year at Colwood, made it known he would be another dangerous threat again when he eliminated Major Warner, 4 and 3. Wilson played well throughout and was always in the lead.

McINTOSH ELIMINATED

A champion of two years ago passed out of the picture when W. L. McIntosh succumbed to Norm Thornton Feil, 2 and 1. Feil was given a hard fight by the former titleholder throughout the match. H. A. Allen and N. S. Mitchell were the other pair to advance, the former defeating Boss Johnson, 2 and 1, and the latter accounting for Frank McQueen by the same margin.

All four matches in the women's handicap were hard fought. Miss Mary Money eliminated Miss Norah Wilson, 2 up, while Miss Peggy Hodgson defeated Mrs. A. L. Scott, 4 and 3. In the lower bracket, Miss Mary Campbell took Miss Ruth Jones into camp, 2 and 1, while Mrs. Alex. Watson won from Miss Phyllis Hodgson, 3 and 2.

Matches in the open event drew the galleries, and the one between Rowan MacKenzie and Norm Thornton Feil, which the former won at the nineteenth, held the spotlight. MacKenzie was two up at the eleventh, but Feil won the next two holes to square the match, and the fourteenth to go one up. MacKenzie evened matters at the fifteenth, but Feil went one up again by taking the sixteenth. MacKenzie won the seventeenth and the eighteenth was halved.

On the extra hole, MacKenzie reached the green with three fine wood shots, while Feil was trapped to the left on his third. MacKenzie putted dead and Feil's shot from the bunker ran fifteen feet past the hole and his putt narrowly missed. MacKenzie then sank his putt for a five and the match.

Art Beasley, one of the city's best left-handed golfers, played sound golf in putting Gordon Money out, 5 and 4. Beasley was close to par the whole route and his putting was brilliant.

D. Hamilton and Jack Forde put up a spirited battle before the former won out on the eighteenth green.

Walter Hall, city champion, and Dave Randall gave a fine exhibition of golf in their match, Hall winning 2 and 1. Hall took a two-hole lead on the fourteenth and held it the rest of the way to end the match at the seventeenth green.

YOUNG CORBETT WINS WELTERWEIGHT CROWN

Decisions Fields In Ten Rounds to Lift Championship

Californian Credited With Taking Six of Ten Rounds of Title Bout—Crowd of 15,000 Pays $50,000 to See New Title-Holder Crowned

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22 (AP).—Climaxing a three-year struggle to the top, Young Corbett, of Fresno, Cal., was awarded the welterweight boxing championship of the world, here, today, after his flying fists had thudded out a decisive victory over Jackie Fields in a bristling ten-round bout.

As the shadows began closing in on the stadium, the Fresno southpaw put on a closing round rally that definitely established his superiority over a rival whom he defeated three years ago today in a nontitle bout.

Some 15,000 fans cheered as the referee lifted the arm of the stocky youth and awarded him the 147-pound crown. Leaving no doubt as to his superiority, Corbett outfought and outpunched his rival in six of the rounds, according to the count of the referee, who called one session even and gave three to the champion.

SETS KILLING PACE

The Fresno left-hander's battle plan included a killing pace from the start. He shot in long lefts to the chin and had Fields missing as early as midway in the opening round.

Outguessing Fields, as the latter bore in, head down, the new champion jumped back after every drive to counter with lefts to the body that jolted much of the fight out of his opponent.

For the fourth time in the history of boxing the name "Corbett" proved the downfall of a champion. The Fresno Italian followed a long line of illustrious predecessors that started when James J. Corbett punched the heavyweight crown from the head of the wary John L. Sullivan. George Green, of San Francisco, the original "Young Corbett," defeated "Mysterious" Billy Smith, welterweight title-holder, and Young Corbett II (William Rothwell) knocked out "Terrible" Terry McGovern to claim the featherweight crown.

While figures of the gate receipts were not available immediately after the bout, Ancil Hoffman, associated with the promotion of the contest, estimated they would run around $50,000.

ROUND ONE

Corbett rushed out and landed the first punch, a stiff left to the face that drove Fields back into the ropes. The Fresno boy followed it up with a furious two-fisted exchange that had Fields on the retreat.

A left to the nose opened up a cut on Fields, and he took two more rights and lefts in the exchange. Fields found the range and landed a right and left. Corbett jumped in to land a left on the champion's jaw and followed it with a smash to the stomach that hurt the title-holder.

Corbett battered Fields in an exchange in which Fields failed to land a punch. A series of lefts to the body jolted the champion severely and he was wobbly on his legs as the round ended.

The referee gave the round to Corbett.

ROUND TWO

Fields rushed out in an effort to take the play away from his rival, and in a spirited exchange landed two right-handers to Corbett's jaw. Fields rushed Corbett into the ropes and had the better of a two-fisted exchange. The champion rushed in again, but ran flush into a stiff left to the nose that set him back on his heels.

They mauled each other in a clinch. Fields took the aggressive and bored into his stocky opponent, but inflicted no damage.

Corbett brought up a long left uppercut to the chin and took a hard right to the body in return. They exchanged punches at the bell.

The referee gave the round to Corbett.

ROUND THREE

They fiddled around for a moment and went into a clinch, each working on the body. Fields rushed in, landing a couple of lefts and rights to the body. Corbett spotted the champion with a left to the face and brought in another left to the body. As Fields bored in, the Fresno boy smashed in a left to the jaw that set Fields back, but the title-holder continued to bore in.

Fields banged in a right to the jaw and hooked with his left. In an exchange on the ropes the champion battered Corbett around the body. Corbett landed two lefts to the face and another to the body as the round ended.

The referee gave the round to Corbett.

Fields appeared a bit leg weary, but he continued to bore in, Corbett punching swiftly to the chin, near the close. The referee gave the round to Corbett.

ROUND FIVE

They sparred around a bit, Corbett landing two stinging lefts to the chin that made Fields' head bob back. Corbett continued to dominate the fighting with raking lefts to the jaw that stopped Fields' rushes. Fields got in close and smashed in right-handers to Corbett's body, some of which were so low the referee cautioned him.

Fields rushed Corbett into the ropes and landed a right into the body, but he took rights and lefts to the chin in return. Corbett was the complete master of the situation. The referee gave Corbett the round.

ROUND SIX

Fields rushed out with determination written all over his face, but he took a left to the jaw in the exchange. Fields forced the fighting and landed several right-handers to Corbett's chin. The champion also dropped in some husky punches to Corbett's body as he rushed in with fists flying. Corbett got in a few right-hand punches to the body and nailed Fields with a left to the chin when the latter rushed in.

They mauled each other in a clinch. Corbett sunk his left into Fields' body, but the latter continued to bore in. Fields caught Corbett with a right to the jaw as the latter was going away. Referee Kennedy gave the round to Fields.

ROUND SEVEN

Corbett landed the first punch, a left on Fields' head, and they thumped each other with light punches in an exchange at close range. Corbett brought in a left to Fields' jaw, but the latter retaliated with a two-fisted attack to the midsection. Corbett appeared to be slowing up, while Fields had perked up. Fields hooked a left to Corbett's body and beat a tattoo to the body. Corbett was missing punches badly. Fields continued to force the fighting, hacking his opponent about the body. Corbett landed four heavy lefts to the chin without a return, just before the round ended. The blows stopped Fields in his tracks each time.

The referee signaled it was Corbett's round.

ROUND EIGHT

Fields rushed out, but Corbett danced around him. They had a light exchange on the ropes with honors about even. Two clinches followed with no damage done. Fields landed a right to the body, but took a harder left to the chin in return. Corbett drove in his left to the body, and in a clinch Fields battered with both hands to the midsection. Corbett landed two lefts to the jaw, and the second one nearly floored Fields, sending him back several steps. Fields landed a right on Corbett's mouth, but in a clinch Corbett tied up the champion completely. Fields drove in with head down but only managed to land a low punch to Corbett's body. The referee gave the round to Corbett.

ROUND NINE

Fields rushed out and they battled toe to toe in mid-ring, with punches being about evenly divided. The title-holder sent in a right to the body, but Corbett brought in a right and left to the face. They clinched, and after breaking away, Fields smashed in a right to the jaw. The referee cautioned Corbett to keep his right glove closed. Fields sent in punches to the jaw and dropped over a heavy right to the body. Corbett shot his left to Fields' head. The champion caught Corbett on the jaw with a hard right that made the latter's legs wobble. Fields continued to punch his rival around and took the round rather easily. The referee pointed to Fields.

ROUND TEN

They shook hands. Corbett sent in a left and right to the jaw. Fields drove in, throwing punches to the body. Corbett was bleeding from the nose. Corbett landed a left to Fields' chin, but the latter had the better of infighting. Fields drove Corbett back with rights and lefts, landing one hard right to the jaw. Corbett put in a left to the jaw. They slugged toe to toe, with Corbett landing a heavy left to jaw and taking heavy body punches in return. Corbett set the pace and rushed Fields to the ropes, landing rights and lefts to the jaw. Corbett landed three lefts to the jaw. Corbett's terrific finish left Fields in a somewhat groggy condition, the champion not making a return, as the round ended. The referee called the round even.

MAROONS WHIP CRESCENTS, 6-4

SASKATOON, Sask., Feb. 22 (AP).—Saskatoon Crescents' chances of figuring in the playoff series for the championship of the Western Canada Hockey League received a rude jolt here tonight as the Vancouver Maroons chalked up their second straight victory over the Saskatchewan team.

Tonight's 6-4 verdict added two more points to the credit of the Coast aggregation and placed them in undisputed possession of second place in the league standing, two points ahead of the idle Edmonton Eskimos, with the Crescents reposing in the cellar.

All the thrills of tonight's encounter were packed in the last period of the game. Led by Charlie Laroche and big and colorful Gene Puale, the Vancouverites tallied three times in each of the first two periods, with only one reply from their opponents.

With the first two sessions producing listless hockey for the 800 or so fans who attended, the Crescents came to life in the third and came within an ace of pulling the game out of the fire by scoring three goals.

Buttery's Dash for Goal

HERE we see Buttery, the ex-Wolverhampton player, but now with Bury, in a dash for goal when the Shakers played Tottenham Hotspurs. One of the Spurs' defence players is in hot pursuit. Both Bury and Tottenham are in the fight for promotion, while the latter club is still in the cup competition also.

Australia Scores 183 for Four in Opening Innings

Antipodeans Start Off Poorly in Match Against England at Sydney—Richardson Caught for Duck—Don Bradman Bowled for 48

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 23 (CP).—Australia had scored 183 runs for four wickets at tea time today, in the fifth test cricket match against England. The Antipodeans started out badly when V. Y. Richardson was caught out for a duck by G. R. Jardine, off Harold Larwood's bowling.

Fifteen thousand persons were on hand to see the match despite the fact there is nothing at stake. England won the rubber last week, taking the fourth game at Brisbane by six wickets.

Larwood started bowling to the off side and Richardson, cutting the fifth ball, was caught by Jardine in the slips before he could score.

Don Bradman came to bat. It was the first test he had played in on his home field. He scored 10 off G. O. Allen's first over, then hit W. R. Hammond to cover boundary twice. The half century was marked up in just over an hour.

WOODFULL OUT FOR FOURTEEN

Larwood resumed bowling, with William Voce at the opposite end. Larwood started his famous "body line" trundling. His fifth ball, which bounced low, struck W. M. Woodfull's pads and glanced off to hit the wicket. Woodfull was out for 14 with the score at 59 for two wickets. He had been in an hour and nine minutes.

Larwood then took Bradman's leg stump and Australia's greatest batsman walked off the field with 48, leaving the score at 64 for three. Bradman had played a fluky and unorthodox mixture of brilliance and mediocrity. He stayed in an hour and eleven minutes and hit seven fours. L. P. O'Brien and Stanley McCabe, fourth wicket pair, had one run each at lunch time.

The teams:

Australia—W. M. Woodfull, V. Y. Richardson, Don Bradman, L. P. O'Brien, Stanley McCabe, P. K. Lee, L. S. Darling, W. A. Oldfield, H. Alexander, W. J. O'Reilly, H. Ironmonger.

England—D. R. Jardine, R. E. S. Wyatt, G. R. Allen, Herbert Sutcliffe, W. R. Hammond, Maurice Leyland, L. E. G. Ames, Hedley Verity, Edward Paynter, Harold Larwood, William Voce, T. B. Mitchell (twelfth man).

RUNYAN, SMITH WIN FOURBALLS

Defeat Olin Dutra and Tommy Armour, 2 and 1, in Final of International Match

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 22 (AP).—Taking the lead with three birdies in the first four holes of the afternoon round, Paul Runyan and Horton Smith held on doggedly against two veterans, today, and won the international fourball championship from Olin Dutra and Tommy Armour, 2 and 1.

Their victory came in a grueling battle that was in doubt until Runyan laid his tee shot twelve feet from the cup on the short, par four, thirty-fifth hole, with his side leading two up, but it was Smith who ended the match by putting first and dropping in a birdie three to halve the hole.

BARNEY ROSS WINS

Ross gave away seven pounds, scaling 135 pounds to 142 for Grogan, but was credited with winning every round by a wide margin.

Slingers, Adanacs Score Victories in Basketball Series

Winerymen Rally to Down Ladysmith in Island Cage Play-Offs—Local Juniors Flash Fine Form —Foster's Go Under in Close Game

Two Victoria squads continued marching toward Vancouver Island basketball championships, while one dropped a close decision in the first of a two-game series last night at the High School gymnasium against Ladysmith quintettes. Slingers played brilliantly in the second half to take a 35 to 28 victory over Ladysmith seniors, while Adanacs scored a 39-16 win over the Up-Islanders in the juniors' series. Ladysmith Trojans displayed smart ball in handing Foster's a 30 to 25 defeat in the Intermediate "B" play-offs. The local squads will journey to Ladysmith tomorrow evening for the second games.

With both teams missing numerous opportunities under the hoop and from the foul area, scoring in the first half of the feature game was slow, and the teams left the court deadlocked at 11-11. Ladysmith had an edge on the play, but had hard luck with their shooting. They outshot Slingers two to one, but could not find the hoop. Ladysmith took the lead early in the final canto, but Slingers came back to tie the score. Several times the teams fought on even terms, and the score was tied at least six times before Slingers hit their stride in the dying minutes to win out.

FINE VICTORY

Keeping control of the ball during the late minutes, after establishing a good enough lead to win out, the Trojans came through with a fine verdict over Foster's. A. Gourley was the brains of the visiting squad. He played a great game throughout, making the openings for many of his team's baskets. Foster's led at the interval by a 12 to 9 score, with Paterson, Wilson and Fields scoring all the points. Ladysmith overcame this lead early in the last half and then went out in front during the late stages with baskets through Gourley, Lauderback and Sharp. Foster's tried hard to break through Ladysmith's defence for baskets in the dying moments, but their efforts proved fruitless.

Gaining a 20-to-13 lead in the first half and increasing it throughout the last period, Adanacs proved too smart for the visiting youngsters. The locals had a decided height and weight advantage. Ladysmith went to pieces in the last session and Victoria outscored them by sixteen points to win with ease.

Tommy Macedo and Thompson, of Ladysmith, handled the games and teams follow:

Foster's — Patterson (6), McKeachie (6), Florence (3), Hudson, Surphlis, Fields (2), Wilson (8), Foster.

Ladysmith—Sharp (5), Hunter (4), Clarke, Lauderback (5), McNell (2), Gourley (9), McMurtrie, Simpson (5).

Slingers — Michell (13), Charlie Sluggett, C. Lannon (3), Butler (2), Clarence Sluggett (9), M. Lannon (8), Andrews.

Ladysmith—Strang (9), Young, Jones (2), Smith (2), Davidson (9), Tassin (6), Gourley, Noon.

Lower Island Badminton Body Sends Protest Over Failure to Name Team

The Lower Island Badminton League is up in arms over the failure of the British Columbia body to provide funds for the sending of the provincial champions to the Dominion tournament at Montreal next month. At a well-attended executive meeting of the local officials, last night, the following wire was sent to the British Columbia body.

"Owing to the outstanding ability shown by Miss Anna Kier, Dick Birch and Eric Leney this season, our league, which heavily subscribes to the funds of the British Columbia Badminton Association, requests that these three players be substantially financially assisted to enable them to take part in the Canadian championships and uphold the honor of British Columbia.

"This matter has just come to our attention and we completely fail to understand the apathy of your body, when assistance toward defraying expenses has been volunteered. Increased revenue has been derived this yar from the large number of players and clubs playing badminton.

"Do you realize that thousands of badminton players in British Columbia will be bitterly disappointed if their leading players are not present to take part in the Canadian championships, being held this year in Montreal, due to the lack of financial assistance from the British Columbia Association.

"We believe you fail to appreciate the importance of this occasion and the ability of the players mentioned."

Signed
Lower Island Badminton League.

University Swimmer Fails to Beat Mark

VANCOUVER, Feb. 22 (CP). — Dorothy Rennie, of University of British Columbia, failed tonight in her attempt to set a new world record for the long plunge at Varsity interclass swim. Her best effort was only fifty-nine feet. She had done seventy-three feet four inches in a trial the previous night, and keen interest was attached to her performance in the gala. The world mark is seventy-one feet. The Varsity star was completely off form, and failed to get away properly in any of her three tries.

Interlisted Stocks Drop Heavily at Eastern Exchanges

MONTREAL, Feb. 22 (CP).—Capital stock of Brazilian Traction touched the lowest level of all time on the Montreal Stock Exchange today. Shares closed at 7 3-8, for a loss of 3-8, which compares with the previous low mark of 7 1-2, reached last Summer.

Interlisted issues declined for the third successive day, as the market carried on with Wall Street closed for Washington's birthday. Against three gains, were ten losses, with eight issues unchanged. Total sales amounted to 8,000 shares, 3,000 of which were in Canadian Pacific.

C.P.R. closed at 10, with a net loss of 1-4. International Nickel was down the same amount, at 9, while Consolidated Smelters eased 1-2 to 60.

A feature of the day's trading was a sharp recovery by Bell Telephone, which in the first two days of the week slumped nine points.

The loss was cut in half today, the stock having moved up 4 1-2 to 84 1-2. Directors of the utility meet tomorrow, when dividend action will be considered. Other utilities were mixed. Shawinigan advanced 1-4 to 101-2, while B.C. Power was off the same amount, at 15 3-4. Montreal Power cancelled an early loss, moved up to 30, and then fell back to 29 3-4, where it closed unchanged.

Dominion Textile dipped 3 to 45. Fractional losses occurred in Dominion Bridge, National Breweries, Montreal Power debentures and Dominion Steel and Coal "B." Banque Canadienne Nationale picked up a point at 129.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP).—Recovery of Bell Telephone to 85 from 80, and a new high mark for British American Oil, since last Summer, featured trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. The Wall Street market was closed, and local prices were forced to make their own level.

Selling of C.P.R. was quite heavy in the morning session, and the price dropped off to 9 7-8, its low point since last July. • Near the close, the price moved back to 10 1-4, where it closed unchanged. Brazilian finished unchanged at 7 5-8. Nickel, Smelters and Ford were also steady.

Along with Bell Phone, Montreal Power and B.C. Power "A" were strong, but the other issues of the utilities group closed on the down side. Bank issues also slipped off a little, Montreal and Royal losing 2 points each, and Imperial 5, while Toronto gained 1-2 in an odd-lot sale.

In the oil section, B.A. advanced to 8 3-8, and closed only 1-8 down from that level, while Imperial dropped a fraction, and Supertest 1-2, and Pete gained 1-8.

TORONTO MINING MARKET

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP).—Selling in the standard mining market, which has been apparent for a couple of days, dried up this afternoon, and the list moved higher on the wings of a new buying movement.

The holiday in Wall Street exercised a certain amount of restraint on operations in the interlisted shares, but volume nevertheless was a little above the half-million mark. In the late trade, gains of 10 to 75 were registered by Dome, Hollinger, Lakeshore, Pioneer and McIntyre, while Wright-Hargreaves closed up 8, at 4.60, and Teck Hughes dropped 6 to 4.38. Lakeshore gained 65 and McIntyre 75.

The base metal shares were not weak at any stage. Small lot buying in Noranda put the price up 40 to $24; Nickel closed up 10, at 9.10, and Falconbridge closed even at 2.35.

In the medium-priced gold shares, the close was around the top prices. Ventures up 6, San Antonio 5, and Siscoe 2. Sylvanite, Howey and Granada just about made up the losses sustained in the morning selling. Ventures, Sylvanite and Siscoe had each a heavy turnover.

Penny stocks were quiet in the silver shares. Eldorado gained 5, while Mining Corporation lost 5, and Nipissing 2.

OLD KOOTENAY MINE REVIVED

Results Since Work Resumed Last Year Encouraging to New Owners

The Kootenay Belle group in the Nelson district was opened up in the early days by prospectors and others, and from the open cuts and upper workings there was produced by 1909 some $84,000 in gold. Much of this production was the output of a mill with only four stamps, run by waterpower and connected with the upper workings by a gravity tramway.

In that year the group was acquired by Jonathan Rogers, F. M. Black and the late Thomas Mathews, who obtained Crown grants to the property comprising 161.87 acres. They developed it further by running a crosscut 200 feet below the original level. The results of this work was to disclose the downward occurrence of the ore bodies in the two veins known as No. 1 and No. 2 opened to the surface. No. 1 showed phenomenal values and No. 2 remarkable widths of good milling ore. The first car shipped averaged $154 per ton.

RESUMED LAST YEAR

In 1927 the owners equipped the property with a 50 h.p. semi-Diesel engine, compressor, pipelines, tramway and all the necessary equipment for working a crew of twelve or more men. The work ceased in 1928 on account of the high mining costs, but was resumed in the Summer of 1932 and has since continued. From the second level there were shipped to the Trail smelter in the closing months of 1932, 236 tons of dry ore, with a gold content valued at $7,816.61, making the total taken from No. 2 level, $34,882.44, or an average value of sorted ore of $48.38 per ton. The total recorded production from the property to date is approximately $119,000, valuing gold at $20 per ounce. An additional shipment of thirty tons went to Trail smelter this month, returns for which are not yet available.

The total development on Nos. 1 and 2 levels is 1,900 feet, not counting upraises on No. 1 or No. 2 levels. The ore, which is a decomposed oxidized quartz, in quartzite formation is essentially free milling.

HAVE ACQUIRED PROPERTY

The property has now been acquired by the Kootenay Belle Gold Mines, Ltd.

The directors of the company are well-known citizens of Vancouver: Jonathan Rogers, W. C. Dilmars, C. S. Maharg and F. M. Black. The management of the property has been in the hands of the last-named. The superintendent is Frank Phillips, of Nelson, who has a long experience of mining in that district.

Precious Metals Issues Move Slightly Higher at Vancouver Market

VANCOUVER, Feb. 22 (CP).—Although trading was none too heavy and demand light, active issues displayed a firm undertone on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today and at the close gains were the general rule, ranging from fractions to one or two points with extreme gains of seven and fifteen points chalked up.

Bralorne halved a 4-point advance to close at 1.92, while Premier, at 71, and Reno, at 69, were up 1 each. Bridge River, at 6 1-2, was up a fraction. PLANS DEVELOPMENTS AT GREAT BEAR LAKE

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP).—Balance sheet of Eldorado Gold Mines, Ltd., for the year ending December 31, shows current assets of $211,297 and current liabilities of $14,802, leaving net working capital of $197,496 against $319,627 a year ago.

Intimation directors will soon consider sending a concentrator to Great Bear Lake to treat rich silver ore and announcement that rich silver and pitchblende had been found in drifting at a depth of approximately 100 feet, are contained in the annual statement.

OUTPUT OF SILVER DECLINES SHARPLY

NEW YORK, Feb. 22 (AP).—Silver output in December by the six leading producing countries (Canada, Mexico, United States, Australia, Burma and Peru) dropped to 8,280,000 ounces in December, the lowest since the decline in production became general, says the American Bureau of Metal Statistics. This total compares with 10,493,000 ounces in November and 10,821,000 in December, 1931.

The sharp decline was caused by a decrease in output of Mexican mines.

"Yes," said Tommy, rather reluctantly, for he had enjoyed lurching about the car.

"But you want to be careful I don't pick your pocket," the old man said in a whisper.

"Can't," Tommy retorted. "As soon as I saw you lookin' at me I put my penny in my mouth."

WHEAT MOVES SHADE HIGHER

Scattered Export Sales Give Winnipeg Market Stimulus for Slight Gains

WINNIPEG, Feb. 22 (CP).—Wheat futures moved narrowly and firmly on the Winnipeg Grain Market today, receiving sufficient stimulus from scattered export sales to score fractional gains. Values at the close were 1-4 to 1-8 higher with May at 48 7-8, July 49 3-4, and October 50 7-8 cents.

With United States markets on holiday, local traders were loath to commit themselves and trading throughout was inactive. All offerings, however, were readily absorbed.

No estimate was placed on the amount of Canadian wheat sold for overseas shipment, but it was believed not to be large. Reports here indicated better demand and an offer of higher prices in the United Kingdom for Canada's grain.

Cash and coarse grains continued dull.

DESIGN CHANGE TO BE RADICAL

Progress in Aeronautical Study Will Have Effect on Motor Cars

OTTAWA (CP).—Radical development in the design of engines for both aeroplane and automobile use was forecast by Squadron Leader Alan Ferrier, Royal Air Force, addressing the Engineering Institute of Canada convention on "Relations of Aeronautical Research to General Engineering." Stressing safety, economy and reliability as the main driving forces behind research in the aeronautical field, Squadron Leader Ferrier pointed out that numerous developments resulting therefrom and many of the improvements appearing on the horizon, especially in regard to motive power and streamlining, appear to be applicable to the future design of automobiles as well as aeroplanes.

TROUBLESOME GADGETS

Carburetors, spark plugs, timing devices and many other gadgets which are troublesome to the average motorist are done away with in some of the new designs receiving consideration in the aeronautical field, he declared. The compression-ignition engine is being developed rapidly and another important change pertains to the use of spray injection for gasoline in the ordinary four-cycle and two-cycle, spark-ignited motor.

"Short of the internal combustion turbine, which is still more or less confined to dreamland and the files of the Patent Office," stated Mr. Ferrier, "the high-duty, low-weight compression-ignition engine represents the fondest aspirations of the power plant fraternity in aeronautical circles. The work of developing this type of engine in a satisfactory form for aircraft use has been carried on energetically in several countries, and in the United States and Germany compression ignition aircraft engines are actually on the market, although they are by no means in general use."

ATTRACTIVE ADVANTAGE

The two-stroke-cycle engine was also indicated to be coming in for a great deal of attention with its attractive advantage of twice as many power strokes as in the four-stroke engine now in general use. To get nearly twice the power from the same cylinder capacity is the tempting prize for engine designers but the two-stroke engine has hitherto lacked fuel economy. One way of combating the fuel consumption problem, the paper pointed out, was to do away with the carburetor altogether and to inject a measured quantity of fuel in the form of a spray directly into the combustion space after the exhaust valve has closed, thus sidestepping the difficulty of unburned fuel following the exhaust gases out.

While the desire for greater safety and economy in flying is the main driving force behind the many researches reviewed, the autoist will benefit also from the improvements brought about in engines, fuels, and in streamlining. Respecting the latter, Squadron Leader Ferrier said the automotive engineer is fully cognizant of the benefits and has the equipment and knowledge at his command to achieve a big step toward perfect streamlining. "The public, however, is conservative, even in America, and it is only in very recent years that popular knowledge of aviation has cultivated the public mind to a point where it is willing to accept radical alterations in the shape of vehicles. That these alterations are on the way is a certainty, but the date of the revolution is beyond the author's capacity to predict."

"I've forgotten what the other thing was I came for," said the small girl in the grocer's shop.

Was it cheese, bacon, butter, margarine, lard, cocoa, sugar, jam, marmalade, biscuits, bottled fruit, piccalilli, meat, baking powder, soap, soda, spice, rice, tapioca, macaroni, currants, raisins—"

"I remember now. It was, can you tell me the right time, please?"

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

MEDICAL TREATMENT CURES MOST ULCERS OF STOMACH AND INTESTINE

In a former article I stated that ulcer of the stomach and ulcer of the first part of the small intestine into which the stomach empties its contents was so common that research workers were agreed that almost one in every ten persons have had, or have, an ulcer of this kind.

Of course, the great majority never know thy have these ulcers as they usually heal readily.

However, it is a miserable ailment, as it means distress, pain, or a sense of fullness, an hour or two after every meal, and is relieved only by the use of an alkali such as baking soda or else by more food. The baking soda or the food "quiet" the pain or distress until the acid in the digestive juice becomes strong again, and the alkali or food must again be taken to overcome it.

As you know a great many of these cases become so severe that the ulcer does not heal or else the ulcer heals in such a way that the scar tissue closes or almost closes the opening from the stomach into the intestine and death would soon result if a operation were not performed.

Fortunately, however, the majority of these cases do not need to undergo a operation as the medical treatment—soft foods, rest, and alkalis—bring about a cure.

Drs. D. M. Dunlop, and R. M. Murray-Lyon, Edinburgh, studied 181 cases of definite ulcer, and seventy-five cases in which the symptoms resembled ulcer but a definite diagnosis could not be established. A purely medical treatment—alkalis, rest, and soft foods—resulted in the apparent cure of about 50 per cent, an improvement in about 30 per cent, with about 20 per cent unimproved.

The longer the length of time that was allowed to pass between the period when the symptoms first occurred until treatment was begun, the less successful was this medical treatment.

These physicians were of the opinion that even intense alkali treatment was free from any harmful effects.

Occupations which caused irregularity of meals appeared to be one very important cause of ulcer.

The thought then is that with pain or distress occurring regularly an hour or two after meals there is a strong possisibility of ulcer, and early medical treatment will most likely cure it.

WRIGHT WILL MEET TILDEN

Canadian Net Ace Will Meet U.S. Professional in Exhibition Game

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP).—Dr. Jack Wright, Canada's Davis Cup tennis star, and "Big Bill" Tilden will meet in an exhibition match at Vancouver on March 8, it was definitely settled today when the council of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association granted the British Columbia tennis governing body permission for the match.

Wright is now in training for the Davis Cup matches and it is expected the former ruler of the amateur tennis world will help to bring Canada's foremost racqueteer to peak form. Although Tilden is now a professional, the International Lawn Tennis Federation permits such contests, with the approval of the national association.

BEYOND the DOOR

by Carol Brown

SYNOPSIS

After Manning Colby dines in the basement restaurant of Papa Marat, formally a roving newspaper correspondent, he hurries up to his fourth floor quarters in the old studio building to complete a panel for inspection at 9 o'clock by the head of the Brent Art Company. He is interrupted by Von Veh who has a top floor studio. Von Veh complains of the noisy singing of four college youngsters, who call themselves the Morons, in their studio beneath Manning's. As Von Veh leaves, he repeats his threat to call the police. Manning disregards a knock on his door but soon Virginia, a pretty model with gold hair, bounces into his studio from the fire escape. She says she had a quarrel with Von Veh while posing for him, then went down to the Morons, but had to leave because of the actions of one of the boys. Manning sends her away, saying he is very busy. He suddenly realises Brent is soon due and he is not ready for him, goes down to the restaurant to phone, and is too late to catch Brent. As he goes upstairs, he tells old Dan, the janitor, he is going up to Von Veh's. "He's dead!" Dan says, and after a pause, "and you're the man that did it." Ignoring this, Manning goes to Von Veh's door where he finds Brent, Mathewson, who has the studio across from Mannine's, and Sprague, a nephew of Von Veh, who is a second floor tenant. They tell him they were talking to Von Veh, stepped out for three minutes, and found him dead, stabbed to death, when they returned.

CHAPTER II

Manning strode past Sprague to the studio door. But before he could step inside the policeman blocked his way.

"You can't go in," he said. "Live in the building?"

"Yes," Manning answered.

"Better stay here!"

"He can't do anything else," old Dan put in. "There's a policeman at the front door and one at the back of the building. It ain't often the police are right there when . . ." But Manning did not hear him. Looking past the policeman into the studio, he could see Von Veh. He was lying on the floor under the blue glass lantern that hung from the centre of the ceiling, lying on his side, with his protruding eyes staring straight toward the doorway. Under the weird light of the lantern the eyes were a blazing, living blue—fixed in glaring horror; the twisted lips were blue, ghastly purple blue; the fiercely bristling hair was blue; the hand that stretched forth from under the rumpled smock—stretched forth as though to push something back—was blue, the cold blue of dead things; the stain on the smock was blue-black, like ink, though Manning knew it wasn't ink—it was that hideous light. It was that light that turned the mass of clay on the modeling stand into something decayed and evil, and the half formed figure rising from it, with its clay dagger held aloft, into a thing of unholy menace. It was that light that changed the busts on the mantle-shelf into floating, trunkless heads, ghost heads, with white sightless eyes, it was the light that changed the few statues into floating spirit figures.

Manning turned away sickened. The ordinary street noises—the clanging of a street car bell, the honk of an automobile horn, a shout of laughter, even the singing of the Morons—were sane cheerful sounds.

"How?" he asked thickly.

Mathewson whispered, "stabbed!"

And then Sprague broke in again, shivering and quavering. "We were right on the other side of the door—if only I'd stayed with him, if only . . ."

"Shut up!" Mathewson commanded suddenly. His voice was thin and shrill as if he were at the breaking point, and he spoke in short sharp phrases, stopping often to catch his breath.

"We were in there talking to—to him—to Von Veh—Sprague and this man," he indicated Brent, "and I—we stepped out into the hall and closed the door, and stood there talking, all three of us, for about three minutes. And then we opened the door, and—it had happened."

"But," Manning asked, "wasn't there anyone, wasn't there anyone in there . . ."

Mathewson shook his head. "Not a soul, not a thing—we went right into the studio—and there he was."

Again Sprague broke in. "Just think, we left him only three minutes—alone only three minutes—with us just outside the door—and we didn't hear—we didn't hear anything! We don't see . . ."

And then Brent, the only business man in the group, more used than the others to dictating in emergency, attempted to take charge.

"We might as well sit down here," he said, pointing to a garish orange bench and chair at the head of the stairs. "We might as well sit down and wait for the inspector."

And when they had obeyed, he began to talk in a curiously, quiet and yet excited voice, like a person who has taken a drug and must talk on and on whether he wills to or not.

"I'll try to tell you all I know about it," he said to Manning. "I came up here to keep my appointment with you. I came at eight-thirty; of course you'd phoned you couldn't be here until nine, but I knocked at your door, and when I found you weren't there . . ."

Manning was about to say, "but I was there," but let the matter slip just then.

"When I found you were out, I came on up to see Von Veh; I had some work I wanted to talk over with him. These two men, Mathewson and the nephew, were there. Von Veh introduced me. They were having an argument. He'd called the police, asked them to do something about those young fellows making the noise downstairs, and they were trying to get him to call the thing off. I saw I couldn't talk business with him then so I said I'd come in later. They both got up, said they had work to do, and we all left together. I'd wanted to meet Mathewson, heard about him, but never met him before, so we stood outside the door talking for a few minutes. This fellow," he nodded contemptuously toward Sprague, "stayed too. We talked for three minutes. I know that because I thought since they were leaving I might as well go back and talk to Von Veh. I was thinking about my appointment with you and looking at my watch. It was eight-thirty when we went out in the hall, and just three minutes later that I knocked on his door; he didn't answer, and then the nephew opened the door."

Suddenly He Thought of Virginia—Virginia, Angry and With Tears in Her Eyes—Climbing Back on the Fire Escape From His Studio—Virginia!

"Yes," Sprague wailed. Manning did wish he'd get hold of himself! "Yes, I opened the door, and we found him—oh, why did I leave him in there?"

"Did you go in, right in?" Manning whispered.

"Yes," Brent replied. "There wasn't a soul! We looked—well, you know that studio is almost bare—no place for anyone to hide, no other door."

"The fire escape!"

Manning wasn't sure who made the suggestion, it might have been Sprague, it might have been Mathewson, but it was the thought in his own mind, a thought which drove him to the window to look out. He knew what he would see, of course—the fire escape zig-zaging down one side of the front of the building past his window on the fourth floor, past the Morons' window on the third floor. The Morons' window! Suddenly he thought of Virginia—Virginia on the fire escape outside his window—Virginia insisting upon coming in even when he'd insisted that he was busy and wasn't dressed—Virginia saying she'd been posing for Von Veh, and had quarreled with him—Virginia, angry and with tears in her eyes climbing back on the fire escape from his studio—Virginia!

He peered out of the window and saw the police patrol down in front, and a crowd gathering about the doorway, and some people looking up at him from the fire escape landing on the second floor. He couldn't see who they were. Their faces were white patches, with black holes for mouths. He drew back quickly.

"They've been out there all evening." It was Brent whispering in his ear, whispering out of deference to their nearness to that blue-lighted doorway.

"Who?" he replied, also whispering.

"That family on the second floor, and Stuebens, one of the artists down there, was with them. No one could have come up the fire escape from the street."

Manning was still thinking of Virginia, seeking an escape from the thing that was on his mind, seeking another possibility. "Anyone could come up by the street door," he suggested, "by the street door and up to the third floor."

Brent shook his head. "Couldn't be done. The police were out there; they were out there when it happened. They had the exits guarded. They'd come in answer to Von Veh's call. One of them was just going to report to Von Veh, but the artist stopped them and tried to call them off. If it hadn't been for that, he'd have been in front of the door too when it happened."

Manning remembered seeing Stuben talking to the policeman in the doorway when he went downstairs, while he'd been talking to old Dan. Then in a flash the thing the old man had said to him came back to him, stood forth with terrifying vividness through the horror, the haziness, the confusion of things. "You're the man that did it!" Of course, if Virginia, why not he? Why not?

He was aware that Brent was still speaking, not whispering now though, speaking in a louder voice, a hard voice with a curious edge to it. "I say, were you in your studio tonight?"

And then Manning did a thing he would not have done had he had time to think it over. In that instant all sorts of phrases stood out in his mind—caught in a trap—circumstantial evidence—and before he coul check himself, he said, "No, I was out all evening!"

Then it was that he saw Dan standing behind Brent, looking at him deliberately, with two malliciously, glittering pin points of light in his pale old eyes.

Manning waited for Dan to speak, but after the first quick glance the old man turned away. But the glance had been definite. He had deliberately caught Manning's eye and registered that he knew he was telling a lie. And did Manning imagine it, or was there a satisfied droop to his bent shoulders, an assured swinging of his long arms, as though he had accomplished a set task? As he passed by the open door of Von Veh's studio he paused deliberately and stood there beside the policeman, looking in, with an apparent indifference, at the rumpled figure under the blue lantern. Then he went on without a tremor. It was almost as though he had seen the thing before.

Manning followed him to the head of the stairs and watched him slowly and thoughtfully descending. Where was he going now? What was he going to do? Suddenly this queer old gargoyle of a person had assumed a new significance to Manning. Hitherto, he had been just a sort of old Dickens character who went with the old building—ornamental in his ugliness. Now there was menace in the queer long under-lip just then drawn up in such a determined manner. There was something about the red-rimmed sagging under eyelids, the long flabby jowls, which reminded him of a bloodhound yes, that was it—a decrepit old bloodhound, which has, after long years of inactivity, caught the smell of blood and is nosing about trying to get the scent again. And this old bloodhound, this prowling sniffing old creature, held Manning's future in his hands! He was the only person who knew that Manning had been in his studio all evening, the only one who knew he had lied when he had said he was out. Or did the others know?

The scene was a menagerie at the annual fair. The lady tamer was demonstrating her control by allowing the lion to take a lump of sugar from her lips. The audience was spellbound until a sailor broke the silence.

"That's easy. I could do that."

"Oh, could you?" came the sharp retort.

"Just as well as the lion," said the tar as he walked away.

DANGER SIGNALS!

HE CALLS HIS SWEETHEART "BEAUTIFUL"

BUT what he calls "beauty" in the girl he loves is only the sparkling vitality that results from perfect health.

Her disposition is sweet. She is never too tired to accompany him on long hikes, to play eighteen holes of golf, or to dance half the night. She is a wise little lady. She knows she isn't really a beauty. But she knows that good health and a merry disposition will insure a happy future for her.

She takes no chances with the nervous and functional disorders that keep so many of her girl friends from complete enjoyment of life and the society of men.

At the first sign of trouble, at the first of those "danger signals" that come periodically, such as headache, backache, extreme nervousness, insomnia and so on, she resorts to the simple and helpful remedy that kept her mother and her grandmother in good health for many years.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can keep your body functioning properly, too. It will alleviate those periodical sufferings that are the despair of every woman; will aid in keeping your complexion rosy and the nervous system in proper working order. Your druggist can supply you.

Nervous . . . Tired

"I am glad to say a word in praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When I had occasion to use it," said Mrs K. Waldron, of 90 No. Ferguson St., Hamilton, Ont., "it helped me wonderfully. I was awfully nervous and irritable, tired out and had headaches, but the 'Prescription' soon had me feeling all right again. It strengthened me wonderfully."

What Today Means

"PISCES"

If February 23 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:50 a.m. to 11 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 2:45 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 12:30 p.m. to 1:15 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Astrological influences will make this a depressing day. Nothing, it would seem, will be able to raise your spirits. Your work will seem most laborious. Enthusiasm and spontaneity will be lacking in personal relationships; people generally will be easily bored.

The child born on this February 23 will be serious, greatly lacking in appreciation of humour, and inclined to be too retiring in nature. He will be ambitious and will seek the finer things of life. Look for him to attain great material and spiritual satisfaction.

If February 23 is the date of your birth, you are quite likely a person who is very difficult to please. You seem never able to make up your mind definitely to any set course of action. You have many whims and fancies and you seek to satisfy them all, even at the sacrifice of your own mental peace. You are a gay person, you enjoy a good laugh, though not at your expense, and you like to be constantly on the go.

Born on February 23, you must learn to be more decisive in your thinking. With your eye fixed on a definite goal, you have the courage, ambition and energy to attain it. You are inclined to look too far into the future, to plan too far ahead, and not to make the most of the opportunities immediately at hand. You are a person of great enthusiasms, but invariably they are not of long duration; you give yourself heart and soul to a cause only to completely abandon it before long. People are drawn to you because of your seemingly glamorous nature, but you do not have sufficient depth of character to hold them long. Your life will not be all smooth sailing, but the course you pursue and the obstacles you must overcome will be very much of your own making. When you come to see yourself in a clearer light, and pause for a moment of self-analysis, you will find that you are your own worst enemy

"Do you believe in second love Mister McQuaid?"

"Do I believe in second love? Humph! If a man buys a pound of sugar, isn't it swate, and when it's gone, don't he want another pound, and isn't that swate, too. Troth, Murphy, I do belave in second love."

Mr. W. G. Simpson, Saria, Ont., writes:—"For two years I was troubled with severe headaches and pains in my stomach.
